Castro Urges Cuban-Style Revolution

'Profit From Our Experience,' He Says in TV Talk

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro today urged Brazilians on to a popular uprising in the style of his own revolution to prevent "reactionary militarists" from installing an "illegal fascist regime" following the resignation of Janio Quadros as Brazil's president.

The Cuban prime minister spoke on television as military leaders in Brazil sought to block Vice President Joao Goulart, an even more outspoken admirer of Castro than Quadros, from taking the presidency.

Cuba's Experience
"Profit from the experience of Cuba," Castro declared. Reading from press dispatches, he told his Cuban TV audience that the situation in Brazil is confused.

"If the Brazilian people make use of Cuba's experience and take arms and throw themselves into the fight in the mountains, jungles and forests, the reactionaries will never be able to succeed," he said.

The Cuban leader said that in such a guerrilla war "the peasants, workers and military forces of honor" would certainly emerge victorious against the Brazilian army and "even the army of NATO," an insinuation that the United States would send troops to aid the Brazilian army.

Attack Revolution
Castro said his government is worried about the situation in Brazil because the change in government could be followed by a new attack on his revolution.

Quadros had been friendly toward the Castro regime and refused to support proposals for joint action against it by the American states.

Castro earlier in his speech renewed his offer to negotiate outstanding differences with the United States but only as equals because "the Cuban revolution is firmly and solidly on its feet."

Former President Backs Goulart Despite Opposition of Military; Vice President Still in Europe

BY TOM MASTERSON

RIO DE JANEIRO, (AP) — Former President Juscelino Kubitschek today threw his weight behind leftist vice president Joao Goulart for the Brazilian presidency.

Goulart reaffirmed his intentions to mark time in Paris. Kubitschek said he talked to the vice president by telephone and assured him of his support. Then he announced plans to go to Brasilia where congress was embroiled in a bitter dispute with military chiefs who have barred Goulart from returning to the country.

Goulart, wealthy rancher and former cowboy who served as vice president under Kubitschek, said he would remain in Paris "to await the development of the situation."

He returned today from an overnight visit with his children who are vacationing in Spain. His statement seemed to rule out for the moment any attempt by Goulart to dash for Brazil and claim the presidency despite the military opposition.

Aides said he is considering several possible solutions to the crisis brought about by the resignation of Goulart.

Delay Hearing For 2 Gunmen
Pair Captured in State Manhunt are in Poor Condition

BARABOO (AP) — The poor physical condition of two of the gunmen accused in the slaying of one police officer and the wounding of another has forced a delay in their arraignment on first degree murder charges.

Ended Manhunt
The injured men are William Selzer, 23, and Richard Nickl, 28, who remained under the care of physicians in the Dane County Jail at Madison.

Welter's capture Sunday in a swamp near Lyndon Station ended a six-day manhunt that had spread across central Wisconsin. Nickl was picked up a week ago Monday after a fall from the trio's getaway car.

The third member of the trio is Lawrence Nutley, 26, who was caught by the posse a week ago today. He was arraigned last week and faces a preliminary hearing Friday, also on a first degree murder charge.

The three prisoners, all from the Chicago area, are charged in the shooting of Sauk County Patrolman James Jantz, 26, of Baraboo on Aug. 21. He was killed and Lake Delton Police Chief Robert Kohl, 45, wounded when they tried to question the trio about a spending spree. Kohl, who was shot in the chest, continues to improve at a Madison hospital, but still is listed as serious.

Broken Leg
Welter is suffering from exposure and a fractured and infected right knee. He had evaded the posse for a week, living on foraged food.

Soviets, U. S. May Meet in Three Weeks

Rusk and Gromyko Expected to Study Crisis in Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk may meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in about three weeks to sound out the Soviet position on Berlin negotiations, informed sources said today.

The meeting reportedly would take place at the United Nations as the General Assembly session gets under way Sept. 19.

Informal Parley
Rusk reports to President Kennedy at the White House today following his New York meeting Monday with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

The possibility of an informal Rusk-Gromyko parley remains an "if" depending among other things, on whether Gromyko shows up for the U.N. fall meeting.

If Gromyko does attend the big power foreign ministers' U.N. opening—as will the Western bloc—Rusk said he would gauge whether more formal talks would be possible.

Calculation Based on Fact Russians Now Know West Won't be Pushed Out of City

Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

UNITED NATIONS — The danger of war over Berlin arising from Soviet miscalculation of Western intentions has receded, the United States believes.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev now knows that the West won't let him push it out of Berlin, Sec. of State Dean Rusk said.

In New York to confer on United Nations matters with U. S. ambassador Adlai Stevenson and Sec.-Gen. Dag Hammarskjold, Rusk confirmed that the West definitely expects to go into Berlin negotiations with the Russians.

Convincing Khrushchev that the West means business over Berlin was a key first step to the conference table.

French President Charles de Gaulle has been especially insistent that the West hold back on Berlin talks with Moscow, as long as Khrushchev thinks he can have his way in the divided former German capital.

Khrushchev once told Hammarskjold he was sure the West would never fight for Berlin.

Won't Be Pushed
Asked yesterday whether he thinks Khrushchev knows the West will fight for Berlin, if necessary, Rusk replied firmly: "I think he knows that we will not be pushed out of Berlin."

"The vital interests of the West are well known to the other side and the determination of the West is equally well known," Rusk said.

He described the Berlin situation as "a serious one" which "can become more serious."

There is "always the possibility of an incident on the border" between West and East Berlin, but to avoid prosecution.

'Freedom House'
City police and state troopers Monday stormed Williams' house, where the white couple and others had been hiding since Sunday night. They found no weapons—only a few of Williams' followers, both white and Negro.

At the "Freedom House," Williams' other refuge for local and visiting anti-segregationists, law officers also came up empty-handed.

Nelson to Decide Wednesday on Sales Tax Fate

MADISON (AP)—Gov. Gaylord Nelson has promised to announce on Wednesday his decision on the Republican tax revision bill pegged to a three per cent sales tax.

The Democratic chief executive is expected to veto the proposal and give his reasons in a detailed message. The Wisconsin Democratic party has bitterly opposed a sales tax, and Nelson is known to oppose the measure for other reasons. His message may include compromise proposals.

The GOP proposal, subject of the toughest fight in the recently adjourned session of the Legislature, was sent to Nelson's desk after the Republican controlled Senate and Assembly rejected his revision plan. Nelson's proposal included income tax increases and a new system for distributing state collected tax money among communities.

GM Likely Target For Auto Strike

Current Contracts With Big Three Expire at Midnight on Thursday

DETROIT (AP) — The United last-minute advancement toward Auto Workers Union today picks new ones.

which of the Big Three auto makers it may strike at 12:01 a.m. Friday in support of new contract demands.

Speculation snowballed there will be a strike when current three-year contracts run out at midnight Thursday unless General Motors, Ford and Chrysler improve on the wage package they offer a week ago.

General Motors
General Motors, the giant of the industry, ranks No. 1 in speculation on which of the three would be struck. The Detroit Free Press said today: "G M is certain to be the target." In 1955 and 1958 Ford was the target.

The UAW's International Executive Board meets in special session at 6 p.m. EST and is expected to authorize strikes against all but also tell workers at two to withhold action. The third would be struck in hopes of winning a pattern-setting contract for all of the Big Three.

National councils of the union's GM, Ford and Chrysler departments meeting in advance of the executive board session are expected to submit formal requests for strike authorization.

Vote to Walk Out
Workers in plants of all three companies voted overwhelmingly to walk out, if necessary, to back up demands for improvements in wages and fringe benefits.

Strike authorization would not necessarily mean there would be a strike. Contracts have been extended in the past when there was

Woman Convicted of Murdering Husband, Lover, Dies at 77

DETROIT (AP) — A 77-year-old Detroit woman who was convicted in 1924 of the murders of a lover and one of her four husbands died last night in the Detroit house of correction.

She was Mrs. Euphemia Mondich, whose second and fourth husbands once met to congratulate each other on being alive. The woman was serving a life term.

Mrs. Mondich's first husband died mysteriously. The skeleton of her lover, John Urdovich, was dug up by police under a house she once owned. She admitted shooting Urdovich.

Race Wire Boss Hides Behind 5th

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thomas F. Kelly Sr., head of a big Chicago race wire service, took the 5th amendment today when asked whether he so intimidated an employee that the man tried to commit suicide rather than testify before senate crime investigators.

Kelly told the senate investigations subcommittee that answers to this and practically every question asked of him might tend to incriminate him.

A big, balding man with a fringe of gray hair, Kelly sat impassively at the big witness table as the subcommittee heard testimony that the employee, Frank W. Lyons, took an overdose of sleeping tablets Saturday.

Police Sgt. Lawrence J. English of the Chicago suburb of Arlington Heights testified that Lyons is still too ill to be interviewed but that Mrs. Lyons told him her husband had been driven by intimidation to a suicide attempt.

English said Mrs. Lyons mentioned no names, but had informed him that "those he works with told him to take the fifth."

He said this meant Lyons was pressured to invoke the 5th amendment and refuse to testify in the hearings. Lyons had been subpoenaed for questioning about Kelly's race wire operations.

Man Lost for 10 Weeks in Alaskan Wilds Has Amazing Survival Story

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—"I said Waters, 'I figured there must be a creek off in the foot-hills and set out for it, but I never over again. I pulled my coat off found one. I turned to go back my head and there was a little and started following a stream, cub. Two larger bears were there thinking it would take me back but ran off."

Amazing Story
The story of survival that amazed even Alaskans used to wilderness hardships was told as Waters slowly began to recover strength after an ordeal that cut his 190-pound weight almost in half.

Waters, a Cincinnati postal employee from Erlanger, Ky., was on a long-planned Alaska vacation trip when he left his automobile and hiked to Big Lake, 120 miles northwest of here, to fish.

Boy, 10, Tells How Mother Shot Brother and Herself

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — This is the way 10-year-old Johnny Czajkowsky told it to Patrolman Howard Willey yesterday.

"I was fixing breakfast for me and Robert (7 years old) when I heard a shot. I went in the front room where mother was and asked her what the noise was. She said a cap gun went off."

"But I saw a gun behind her back and I looked at Robert, who was still in bed, and there was blood on his head and the pillow."

"I ran out the back door and hid behind a tree. Mother coaxed me to come in the house, but I knew she had a gun and I told her I would wait for daddy and tell him what she had done."

"When daddy came (35 minutes later) I told him mother shot Robert. We went in the house and when we got in the kitchen there was a shot and we saw mother in the front room on the floor."

"Daddy said, 'Ruth, what did you do it for?'"

Mrs. Vincent C. Czajkowsky, 44 and her son, Robert, were dead.

Mrs. Czajkowsky, wife of a soldier stationed at Ft. Leavenworth, hadn't been well since a recent automobile accident. She called police several times Sunday night and complained about prowlers around the house, a big, old home in a nice neighborhood. Police found nothing.

Sgt. Czajkowsky, almost overcome by shock, told police he didn't know his wife had the .32 revolver found beside her.

Swiss Paper Predicts Closing of Air Routes

Reds Claim That Corridors Can be Used Only to Supply Military Garrisons in Berlin

BY DAVID M. NICHOL
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

BONN — The Western air corridors to Berlin — those exposed and hypersensitive nerves — may feel the agonizing shock of Nikita Khrushchev's coarse drill much sooner than many may now expect.

This is not German "propaganda" as many warnings about Berlin seem to be regarded but is the view of the independent and conservative Neue Zuercher Zeitung, which is published in neutral Switzerland.

The newspaper's Berlin correspondent points out that on Saturday there will be a meeting of the Berlin Chapter of the Society of Refugees and Former War Prisoners.

Just a year ago a rally in West Berlin of the parent organization was made the excuse for a five-day temporary closing of the East Berlin border with West Berlin to all West Germans. In the same period more than 1,000 West German residents were refused permission to travel to West Berlin by highway and train on the agreed routes through the communist-controlled region.

Trilateral Run?
The temporary closure it now develops was a trial run for the drastic measures imposed Aug. 13 in Berlin by the East German army, police and militia.

Significantly the closure last September was accompanied by a warning from the East German communist regime to the Western Allies that the air corridors would not be used for the transport of what the East Germans call "militarists and revengers."

The corridors, whose existence is anchored firmly in Four-Power agreements, were intended, the East Germans insisted, only for the supply of the Western garrisons and not for civilian travel.

This was the first time such a claim had been made and it was rejected promptly by the Western powers.

But this year the ground has been laid more carefully. Beginning Aug. 1 new East German restrictions came into being for aircraft flying over East German territory with radios. The ordinance includes a provision that these will not apply where international agreements are in effect and so far air travel in the three vital corridors has been untouched.

Issued Warnings
Last week Khrushchev devoted one of his current series of notes to warnings about the corridors in terms almost identical with those used last year by the East German communists. He repeated the Soviet contention that the air corridors are for the exclusive use of the Western garrisons.

Significantly, too, Walter Ulbricht's assurances last Friday that the East Germans would not interfere with Western access rights to the city at least until a peace treaty was signed also were confined to the official traffic of the Western powers.

The Saturday meeting is only a local one of the Berlin refugee organization although a few West German visitors may try to attend. But the limited nature of the meeting is clear.

Government to Keep Out of Auto Talks

Goldberg Feels That Issue Can be Settled Without Intervention

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's administration, after playing a key role in helping settle a series of lesser labor disputes, apparently has decided to keep out of the auto industry contract talks.

Kennedy's chief adviser in this field, Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, is reported to feel the auto negotiators are experienced and inventive enough to carve out settlement terms of their own without outside help.

Goldberg is said to believe an auto settlement short of a strike is quite likely. But time is growing short. The major auto contracts expire at midnight Thursday.

Might Intervene
It could be expected, however, that if a strike develops Friday and extends for some time, Goldberg might well hop in to give the college try that has worked so well on most of the other labor troubles since Kennedy took office.

Goldberg chalked up his latest labor settlement Monday — one between the Metropolitan Opera Association and its orchestra, whose members had worked out considerable dissonance over their wages.

When the Met announced it was canceling its season because of the dispute Kennedy ordered Goldberg in to save the opera as a national cultural institution.

This was accomplished when both sides agreed to accept whatever Goldberg, an arbitrator, may recommend as fair.

Kennedy, saying that "a great cultural resource of the United States" had been saved, added: "The Metropolitan Opera is important to the nation. I am glad we have all found a way for it to continue."

From Kennedy's inauguration day on, Goldberg has been busily settling labor troubles. First he forestalled a tugboat strike in New York harbor. Then he succeeded in squelching several bad airline strikes.

This was followed by successful avoidance of a strike at atomic energy works at Hanford, Wash. Then the big maritime strike was stopped by a Taft-Hartley law injunction to give more time for settlement efforts that have now about been completed.

2 Escape From Reds
VORDINGBORG, Denmark (AP) — Two East German youths made their way to freedom through Denmark Monday. They told police they went ashore from a pleasure yacht. Police decided to escort them to Grossenbrode, West Germany. Their names were withheld.

Wash., said by telephone the picketing was to be expected. "This is just a bid for publicity," he said.

Two Enrolled
Two other Negroes still are enrolled at Brown. The others are slated to go to Murphy, Grady and Northside.

Police Chief Herbert Jenkins said literature was being distributed calling for a boycott of the four high schools. He said some of the literature carried names, addresses and photographs of the Negroes being admitted to the schools under a federal court order.

Jenkins said special security measures were being taken to prevent any incidents in the wake of Monday's brief picketing at Murphy High, empty at the time, and before City Hall.

Five pickets paraded for a short time at city hall. Mayor William B. Hartsfield, attending a convention at Seattle, Wash., gene Cook.

Former Navy Capt. Sam C. Loomis, right, of Aurora, Ill., is on hand to greet Japanese Lt. Cmdr T. Ishizuka Monday on Ishizuka's arrival at O'Hare Field in Chicago. Future Depends on You, Kennedy Says as First Of Peace Corps Leaves

Contingents Will Get Additional Training in London, Puerto Rico

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first two Peace Corps contingents heading for overseas today, carrying President Kennedy's high hopes for a fresh assault on poverty and ignorance in needy nations.

On the eve of their departure bound eventually for Ghana and Tanganyika — President Kennedy told the 80 young volunteers they also carry with them the future of the Peace Corps.

"If you do well," he said, "then the Peace Corps will be developed, and more and more Americans will go abroad and then will find a greater and greater response to this idea of serving our country."

Hopes for 2,700
Kennedy has said he hopes to have 2,700 Peace Corps volunteers in the field by next June 30.

The first two contingents face still more training before they reach Africa.

The 28-man Tanganyika group, which trained at Texas Western College, goes to Puerto Rico for 3½ weeks at the Peace Corps field training center.

Tanganyika was the first nation to invite assistance from the Peace Corps. The contingent is made up of 4 geologists, 4 civil engineers and 20 surveyors to help plan and build secondary roads and make geological surveys.

More Training
The Ghana volunteers, including 21 young women, have completed an eight-week course at the University of California and will

Mrs. Brous died yesterday, apparently of an overdose of sleeping tablets, Patrolman Charles W. Hire said.

Las Vegas' Farewell To Gamblers' Priest

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Outside Las Vegas' huge, seascor-shaped convention center, three Kilg lights swept the desert sky. A Great Dane dog stood lonely sentry duty in the back seat of a Cadillac convertible.

Inside, Las Vegas paid a glittering all-night farewell to its "gamblers' priest."

The Rev. Richard Crowley is being transferred after six years here to Springfield, Ill. His 4:30 a.m. Mass on Sundays for hotel employees and late-hour tourists in this 24-hour town plus his accessibility to the troubled have gained him wide affection.

The crowd of his "parishioners" numbered 3,000 as the farewell party started Monday night and climbed higher this morning after shows let out and casino shifts changed on the nearby hotel strip. Some sat through the entire 5-hour party.

Big names among the 64 entertainers who made brief stage appearances included Peter Lind Hayes, Myron Cohen and singer Alice Lon. Other show personalities appearing on the strip sent their regrets that they couldn't attend.

The Rev. Crowley, a slightly built Irishman took the stage and refused to accept credit for himself alone, sharing it with others of the Las Vegas clergy.

Other members of the Catholic clergy breathed a little easier after Father Crowley's early Mass was switched by the bishop's order from a hotel auditorium last month to a chapel some distance from the strip. The order came after a Catholic ban on bare bosom shows.

The governor and the mayor sent congratulatory telegrams. Father Crowley circulated through the crowd. He shook hands with chorus girls who hurried over between shows, heavy makeup still on their faces. Hotel executives wished him well.

4 Fined for Topsy Driving

Man Who Hit Car, Garage Pays $120

An Appleton man whose car smashed through a garage wall after bouncing off a telephone guy wire and a parked car was fined $120 by Municipal Judge Gustave Keller Monday on a charge of drunken driving.

Marvin B. DeWall Jr., 21, 889 W. Hawes Ave., and a passenger in his car were uninjured in the crash, which took place at 3:30 a.m. Sunday at Parkway Boulevard and Summit Street.

A parked car owned by Richard Pompa, 1042 Grant St., was struck by DeWall's car and careened into a second car owned by Jacob Pompa. The Pompa garage was damaged.

Milton T. Matson, 29, route 2, Omro, was fined $150 and sentenced to 30 days in Outagamie County jail after he appeared in Municipal Court and admitted a charge of drunken driving.

Matson was arrested by state police at 3:30 p.m. Sunday on U.S. 45 one mile south of U.S. 10. He tested .18 on the drunkometer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Frank Prellip, 42, Barnumwood, was fined $75 and Mrs. Grace Pocan, Neopit, was fined $50 when both appeared in Shawano Municipal Court on drunken driving charges.

Mrs. Pocan also was fined $10 for not having a driver's license.

Little Town Will Lose 80 of Its Men

CARRIZO SPRINGS, Tex. (U.P.)—This little ranching and farming community has about one month to adjust itself to losing for an indefinite period 80 of its men.
"We are going to miss these boys. We love them all," said

Mrs. W. B. Phillips, a cafe owner.
She spoke of the 80 members of the 116th Transportation
Co. of the Texas National Guard called to active duty last week. The men report Oct.
1 to Ft. Riley, Kan.
The captain of the company is Wallace Martin, owner of several farms. After hearing the news of his company's assignment he went to the farm as usual.

"When we get over the surprise, we will start making plans," said his wife.
The men from this South Central Texas town of 8,000 who will don uniforms for an unknown length of time include three school teachers, a highway patrolman, two Texas highway department engineers,

Party Planned for
'Gamblers' Priest'
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A star-studded list of entertainers a banker, a grocery store owner, an electrician and a mechanic.
"We didn't think the crisis would become a local problem so quickly," said Mrs. Martin.

held a going-away party for Las Vegas' "gamblers' priest".
The Rev. Richard A. Crowley,
CSV, was transferred to Springfield, Ill., after six years in Las Vegas.
Celebrities appearing on Las Vegas' strip entertained at the party. They included Eleanor Powell, Peter Lind Hayes, Myron
Cohen and Lionel Hampton.

Until last month Father Crowley celebrated mass each Sunday morning at 4:30 in the Stardust
Hotel. The mass was ordered dis-
lic bishop of Nevada after an edict against semi-nude shows at the Stardust and other casinos.
the early mass at a small chapel.

Brazilian Picture Confusing

The tremendous difference between our conception of responsible government and that of some of our neighbors was shown by Janio Quadros' sudden resignation as president of Brazil. There was opposition to Quadros but the danger of revolution is far greater now that he has resigned. And this may have had a lot to do with his action.

Quadros was elected by a landslide last fall. He began a wooing of the Soviet Union and other leftist governments. From the evidence so far revealed it is likely that Quadros is not a Communist. He merely was trying out the blackmail tactics employed by various Asian and African "neutralist" nations to get all the aid that could be found by pitting the U. S. against the Soviet Union.

The opposition to Quadros' moves came both from political jealousies and real fear of Reds which Quadros did not share. Newspaper editorials bitterly denounced the president for awarding a medal of high honor to Cuba's suave Che Guevara. The governor of a major Brazilian province refused to come to a meeting with Quadros and charged there were efforts under way to give the president dictatorial powers. The congress, controlled by two other political parties, opposed reforms on land ownership and tax changes proposed by Quadros.

Judicial Salary Increases

Last April 4, when Wisconsin voters went to the polls, they had before them six proposals to amend the state constitution. They approved four and turned down two. It generally was held that the Wisconsin electorate had shown patience and understanding in selecting for approval four of the six proposed amendments. There had been a fear that placing such a confusing list of questions before the voters probably would result in a negative vote on all of the amendments.

Now there is a problem before the public because of the voters' failure to approve one of the amendments last April. That amendment would have permitted the state legislature to grant extra compensation to public officials during their terms of office in those instances where the officials are elected for terms of four years or longer.

The amendment was intended to apply principally to judges elected for long terms. At that time, and in fact right now, Chief Justice Martin was nearing the end of a 10-year term. Compensation for the office when he was elected was $12,000 a year. Since that time increases granted to supreme court justices have brought the compensation for the position to $17,000 per year. Thus while Chief Justice Martin was receiving $12,000, those elected more recently were receiving more and the very latest additions to the bench were receiving $17,000. The injustice of this was obvious to everyone but for some reason, perhaps related to the wording of the proposed amendment, the message did not get to the people.

Now the question is up again. In Milwaukee County, for example, 10 judges who are scheduled to receive a $1,500 annual salary increase as the result of court reorganization may be unable to accept it. The court reorganization law provides that uniform salaries must be paid to all 12 judges who preside over the various branches of county court. Two of the present county judges who handle probate cases are receiving $18,500 per year. The salaries of the other 10 automatically would go to that figure from their present $17,000.

The Milwaukee County corporation counsel says that the county and district court judges are considered to be county officers. However, since the state will reimburse the counties for $6,000 of each county judge's annual salary they may be considered state officers so far as the constitutional provision is concerned.

Two Michigan Supreme Court judges have gone to federal court in an effort to get equal paychecks for members. They have asked federal district court to put up a panel of three judges to determine whether the fact that one justice of the court receives $25,500 a year while the other seven members of the high bench are paid $18,500, is a violation of the rights of the lower paid justices.

They claim that the Michigan constitution, in prohibiting pay increases for all public officers except circuit judges during their terms of office, violates the equal protection under the law provisions of the federal constitution. The Michigan justice receiving the highest pay is, as might be expected, the latest addition to the bench and therefore the one with the least experience.

The constitutional provision which requires that salary changes occur only at the beginning of a term was intended to prevent political favoritism. In Michigan, however, the complaining judges suggest that it has the opposite effect there. For many years there has been a Democratic governor and a Republican legislature in Michigan. Apparently there is only one Republican member of the bench. One of the justices complained that the legislature "seems to get interested in supreme court justices' salaries every eight years" just before this Republican member comes up for election. Obviously this is a problem that should be settled as soon as possible. Apparently the only way to do it is to change the constitution.

No Middle Road in Sight

Colin Crowe, one of Britain's delegates to the General Assembly of the United Nations, said truthfully that "it is only too clear that some members of the United Nations do not sincerely wish to see a successful negotiation" between France and Tunisia concerning the Bizerte naval base.

The Asian and African nations, which are sponsoring a resolution backing Tunisia's right to demand the withdrawal of French troops in the area, are understandably influenced by the centuries of colonial dominance and abuse. Tunisia, as a sovereign country, should have the right to order the French out of its territory. But Habib Bourguiba's efforts to use this emotional point of view to break a treaty is not admirable. And he is blind to the fact that it endangers the entire free world including most definitely the state of Tunisia.

The Communist nations, led by Soviet Russia, are throwing every wrench they can find into the machinery to block negotiation or a reasonable end to the dispute. This is partly because the Allies, particularly the United States, are embarrassed by the conflict between a newly independent nation and a member of NATO. It also is because the demand to close the Bizerte naval base is as good a place as any to reiterate that all bases on foreign territory be abolished. Russia does not consider Poland or Hungary or North Viet Nam foreign territory or can argue that the Soviet bases in such countries are really locally controlled.

Of course the French are not going to withdraw from Bizerte no matter what the General Assembly resolution says and the U. N. is not going to send troops to evict them. But the propaganda victory for the Communists is a nice argument to weigh against the resolutions demanding that Russia be condemned for its crushing of the Hungarian revolt.

The United States, England, Brazil and a few other nations probably will abstain from voting on the resolution as they do not want to be counted as colonial capitalists. In a way the newly independent nations cannot be blamed for voting according to prejudices built up through years of discrimination. But it is unfortunate here that such leaders as Habib Bourguiba in particular cannot recognize the real danger in the second half of the Twentieth Century and realistically face the fact that the bases that ring Russia are all that keep it from breaking out and swallowing Europe, Asia and Africa.

Aussies are Completing World's Best Satellite Tracking Station

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—A radio telescope capable of tracking American and Russian satellites better than the Americans of Russians is being completed at Parkes, 270 miles west of Sydney.

It is being built by the Radio-physics Division of the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization, whose officers say it will be the most refined in the world.

The telescope is expected to be ready for work in July or August. It will be 110 feet across, cover an area as big as a football field, and cost 800,000 Australian pounds (1,732,000).

Only bigger radio telescope in the world is the 350 ft. dish at Jodrell Bank, near Manchester, England.

Alcoholism History
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Alcoholism is not hereditary but it is communicable, says Dr. Marvin A. Block, chairman of the American Medical Association's committee on alcoholism. He said 50 per cent of all alcoholics have had alcoholic parents.

"Alcoholism produces the kind of tension in a home that is apt to drive the children to alcoholism later in life," he said.

Feels Sales Tax Shifts Load To Those Least Able to Pay

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I am writing hoping my letter will be joined by a majority of this same opinion in this state in asking our representatives not to unbalance the tax load by placing it on those who can least afford to have their ability to buy necessities curtailed even more than it already is.

If the best reason for widening the gap between classes of people in this state and in America is to encourage incentive, either for business or individuals, then let's not look to Latin American and Asiatic countries to criticize the distribution of their country's wealth, but rather let us establish social justice first here in America and keep it as an example for other countries to follow.

Perhaps proponents of the sales tax bill, to shift the tax burden, feel that those to whom it will become much more of a burden, are incapable to realize what has taken place once they begin to pay, when they find there just isn't enough money to go around from one week to the next.

I hope when the full impact of what has happened to them becomes apparent, the Republican party will stand ready to bear full responsibility as they are now assuming, in attempting this act to improve the already high and nearly extravagant living standards of certain higher income classes and reducing the purchasing power of the general public.

The advancement of a state and country should be measured in higher living standards for all its people.

What good is incentive without the purchasing power of the people?

8 Acres Rented for County Fair

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Aug. 31, 1861.

We are glad to learn that the Agricultural Society has at last a "local habitation." It has secured a fine tract of about eight acres in the northern part of the Second Ward by lease for 15 years from David Kimball Esq. at a nominal rent.

It is the desire of the society to clear and fence this tract at once, so as to hold a fair there in October. Mr. Bogan, President of the Society, will have charge of the work, and here is a chance for every man that has any claim to public spirit to make good his title.

Turn out, all you ornaments to College Avenue, you pre-emptors on dry goods boxes, you heavy contractors for shavings, you Post Office orators and help Mr. Bogan through! Go and lumber-lift for him! Whittle down trees for him! He will find work for every one of you. Turn out, working men, and give as many days as you can afford!

And you farmers, make it your business to give us a rousing fair this fall now that harvest is over.

And you, ladies of Outagamie County, what are you doing in the fancy work department, the butter and cheese, the bed quilt and stocking line? Don't forget that here lies half the interest in the fair; and that every one of you is responsible for doing her part in this.

There will be no State Fair this year, because the State Fair grounds are occupied by the troops. So we must make our County Fair a big thing.

Tax Bill Doesn't Follow Blue Ribbon Proposals

BY FRED RISSE
MADISON — The Republican sales tax bill awaiting Gov. Nelson's action does not fully incorporate a single recommendation of the "Blue Ribbon Committee" report on taxes. This bill cannot be considered tax revision if revision is to be measured in terms of this committee's recommendations.

The final report of the committee was the result of some 20 months of deliberation and study of Wisconsin needs and appraisal.

Risse

Fred Risse is a member of the state legislature from a Madison district and during the recent legislature was the chief spokesman of the Democratic assembly minority on tax and finance issues.

al of the tax structure. It was presented to the legislature and governor in December of 1960. Fifteen major tax recommendations were made. The Republican sales tax bill completely disregards 12 of these recommendations. Two others are handled in a manner specifically rejected by the committee while one is redrafted in such a way as to cost the State of Wisconsin an estimated $140 million dollars in lost revenues.

The key to any major tax revision in Wisconsin is a change in the method of distributing shared taxes in order to provide property tax relief. The "Blue-Ribbon" report seriously criticizes the present distribution system and concludes that "it cannot be defended in logic, justice or practicality." The Republican party fails to incorporate in its sales tax bill any answer to this very serious problem.

OMISSIONS
A number of other recommendations were made by the committee which were omitted in the Republican sales tax bill. Among the items omitted is a recommended increase in beer taxes, a graduated weight-distance tax for heavy motor carriers, enabling legislation to permit local units of government to levy additional taxes, state assumption of public assistance costs, authority for the state to borrow, franchise tax on banks and savings and loan associations and incorporation of surtax rates into the normal tax rates.

Complete disregard of these studied suggestions further supports the premise that the Republican tax bill is in fact no tax revision.

On the sales tax the report recommends either a 2 per cent sales tax with food exempt, or a 2 per cent across the board increase in normal individual income tax rates to meet the immediate revenue demands of the state. As a long range program a possible combination of these two proposals is suggested.

The Republican sales tax bill makes no change in the basic income tax rate and instead proposes a 3 per cent sales tax with a credit refund feature. This approach is specifically rejected by the committee which also declared a 3 per cent sales tax rate as "too high."

A majority of the committee opposed complete exemption of the personal property tax on manufacturers' and merchants' inventories and farm livestock, provided for in the Republican bill, on the grounds that such exemption would give disproportionate relief to one class of property at the expense of all others. The committee also points out that personal property tax relief to manufacturers would range all the way from 4 per cent for some to as high as 80 per cent for others.

WITHHOLDING
The withholding proposed in the Republican tax bill is coupled with complete forgiveness of a year's income taxes which would result in a loss of revenue to the state estimated at about $140 million dollars. This means that the wealthiest taxpayers would receive from the state a "gift" large enough to nullify all sales taxes such a taxpayer might reasonably be expected to pay for the remainder of his life. This is neither proposed nor contemplated in the "Blue Ribbon" report.

Assuming the governor vetoes this bill, then the responsible legislators on both sides of the political spectrum should sit down and attempt to work out a real tax compromise. It will be unfortunate for the taxpayer and the State of Wisconsin if greater attention is not paid to studied recommendations.

Bounced Check Bounces Back
CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—Getting a bad check from a cross-country truck driver riled Don Bear, owner of a small Casper service station.

He hopped in his car and drove 900 miles to La Center inn, to collect.

Bear not only received payment for the $50 check, but got another $100 to cover expenses of his trip.

Soviets Act Less Rashly With H-Bomb

Khrushchev Better Armed Than Stalin; Also More Subtle

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Believe it or not the Soviets—while the hydrogen bomb hangs over American-Russian relations like an undertaker's sign—have been less reckless since they developed their bomb than they were without it.

It is one of the freaks of history that the Russians—when they had no atomic weapon at all and the United States had a monopoly on it—pushed their luck the hardest.

Stalin was either wilder than Premier Khrushchev or decided to grab what he could—ready to drop it if the adventure got too dangerous—in the belief the United States, for humanitarian reasons or fear of world opinion, wouldn't use the bomb.

Since both powers now have the hydrogen bomb, and so could eliminate each other if war began, it makes necessary sense for both to be a little more careful about beginning a caper that might begin a war.

More Subtle
Even so Khrushchev is more subtle and imaginative than Stalin anyway.

But just because the hydrogen bomb is so broadly fatal it's a neat device for either side to try to bulldoze the other—blackmail is a better word—into making concessions through fear that not to do so might mean war.

This is what Khrushchev is being accused of now in sealing off East Berlin and his expressed determination to break the West's grip on West Berlin.

Stalin Different
But the way he's trying to do it—so different from Stalin's sudden and brutal attempt to blockade the entire city in 1948—is a good measure of the difference between the two men, and the influential presence of the bomb.

It's not their intentions that are different. It's their technique.

In the first few years after the war, when the United States alone had the atomic bomb, Russia under Stalin grabbed and held the East European countries, today's satellites. It pressured Iran, Turkey and Greece. President Truman didn't force Stalin to disgorge the satellites but he did make him back off Iran, Greece and Turkey.

Tried Blockade
In 1948, when Russia was nearing completion of its own atomic bomb but still didn't have it, Stalin tried his most daring and dangerous grab up to that time: the Berlin blockade. Truman broke that by mid-1949 with the airlift.

Stalin could have tried to smash the airlift—by shooting down American planes. But he stopped just short of that since it could have meant war in which the United States might have felt justified in using the bomb.

It was a few months later in that year of the broken blockade—on Sept. 23, 1949—that the Russians had their first atomic explosion. This made the two powers more equal but not quite.

The United States already had a big bomb supply and a big bomber fleet. Stalin was just beginning on his. Still, he was on his way.

War in Korea
Later that year the Red Chinese took over the China mainland. Not long afterwards—by mid 1950—the greatest of all postwar Communist adventures began: the Korean War.

Stalin guessed wrong again. Truman put troops into Korea to stop the North Korean invasion. But Korea was remote from Russia. Stalin could safely bet the United States wouldn't use the bomb on the Koreans. Stalin had nothing to lose.

It was during the Korean War—Nov. 1, 1952—that the United States exploded its first hydrogen device at Bikini. It wasn't until a few months after Stalin's death—Aug. 21, 1953—that the Russians exploded theirs.

Since then his successors have been no less ambitious but much more cautious. They've encouraged Communist guerrilla fighting in Southeast Asia—still a long way from Russia—where the United States wouldn't use the bomb.

This is cheap and comparative. Meanwhile he's trying to spread the Russian power and influence—by Russian and Chinese Communist propaganda and aid to backward If they lose, Russia and Red China can try their luck later. The only thing Khrushchev has slow or too worthless.

Women Complimented On Marking Suffrage

New York Congressman Predicts a Female President, Vice President in 'A Few Years'

WASHINGTON (AP) — There wasn't a word said against women's suffrage when the House observed the 41st anniversary of ratification of the women's suffrage amendment.

The observance came late Monday when Rep. Catherine May, R-Wash., took the floor to deliver a rousing summary of the trials and triumphs of the early 20th-century suffragettes.

Then the sterner sex, as Mrs. May archly referred to her male colleagues, practically stampeded to get into the act.

Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen Jr., R-N.J., said it is "unfortunate, even deplorable, we do not have more women in Congress." He said he had a tough time defeating one in one of his own campaigns, so "I know the shape of things to come."

Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W.Va., said the time may well arrive when three-fourths or four-fifths of the representatives are women.

Not only that, put in Rep. Samuel S. Stratton D-N.Y., but "it will be only a few years before we look forward to a woman president or vice president." The prospect is fine with him, he added.

Beautiful Job

Women in politics, remarked Rep. Carroll D. Kearns, R-Pa., "have done a beautiful job."

ation of Janio Quadros as president last Friday.

Goulart emphasized that he thought a solution was near but declined to elaborate.

Support Grows

Support for the vice president mounted in his home state of Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil's southernmost. Gov. Leonel Brizola went on the air to proclaim that his state will stand behind the vice president, his brother-in-law. He ordered the state militia to back him up and warned that he would not accept any move to block Goulart's inauguration.

Brizola took over a privately owned radio station to broadcast his appeal. It remained on the air all night calling on the people to resist any move to prevent the "constitutional president" from taking office.

Authorities in the provincial capital of Porto Alegre set up barricades around the governor's palace.

Brizola said Goulart might fly to neighboring Uruguay if barred from Rio. He indicated the vice president would then go to Porto Alegre, presumably to set up a government there.

Radio Broadcast

A radio broadcast from southern Brazil claimed that army and air force commanders in the states of Rio Grande do Sul, Santa Catarina and Parana had announced support for the vice president. But Gov. Ney Braga of Parana broadcast an appeal to Congress to prevent bloodshed by finding legal means to return Janio Quadros to the presidency he quit last week.

Braga said Quadros was defeated by reactionary forces, but that his friends should not desert him in "this dramatic hour."

Williams' Nose May Have Been Hit in Africa

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (AP) — G. Mennen Williams was reported punched in the face at Lusaka airport last night by a white man who disapproved of U. S. policy in Africa.

A spectator said the hands of the assailant of the Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs were left covered with blood.

(Williams did not mention any incident and he showed no sign of having been roughed up when he arrived a few hours later at Leopoldville, The Congo, for a refueling stop on his way back to Washington. The Lusaka account came out after his plane left Leopoldville. Reporters there had no chance to ask him about it.)

Bill Asks Death For Hijacking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airplane hijacking could bring the death penalty under a bill awaiting President Kennedy's signature.

The measure, given final congressional approval Monday, defines the in-air seizure of planes as an act of piracy and provides penalties from 20 years in prison up to death.

It also defines other crimes committed aboard an airplane in flight as federal offenses and provides penalties.

The Senate speeded up action on the bill by agreeing to accept the House version.

Convicted Soviet Spy Free on $100,000 Bond Pending Appeal

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Robert Soblen, convicted Soviet spy doomed by blood cancer to death within a year, is free on $100,000 bail pending an appeal from his sentence to life imprisonment.

U.S. Commissioner Earle N. Bishop approved the bail bond yesterday. Government counsel appealed the ruling, but federal Judge Richard H. Levett upheld Bishop.

Last Friday, Soblen's wife, Dina, attempted to have him freed by posting $50,000 in government bonds as collateral in addition to $40,000 cash.

However, the government questioned her right to act as surety for the $50,000 in bonds, since they had been loaned to her by a friend, Mrs. Helen L. Buttenweiser, a lawyer.

Mrs. Buttenweiser testified yesterday that she was loaning the $50,000 in bonds "out of my own free will."

Threatened To Kill

G. Bruce Stegall and his wife said they were driving through the town Sunday night, en route to their homes at nearby Marshallville, when they were stopped by about 200 Negroes.

Mrs. Stegall told newsmen they were taken to Williams' home, tied up and kept at gunpoint. She said Williams chided the Negroes for kidnaping them, but that he negotiations on the Berlin crisis would be worthwhile.

Rusk said the Western foreign ministers may meet in Washington or New York shortly before the start of the U.N. session.

Keep Path Open

Proponents of an informal Rusk-Gromyko get-together contend it would have the advantage of keeping open the path to a peaceful settlement of the explosive dispute while avoiding a too-eager rush to an East-West conference where the West would find all the negotiating focused on Western concessions.

The State Department noted acceptable to the Western Allies.

Last Survivor of All-Indian Troop Dies in Oklahoma

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — Burial with full military honors was scheduled today for Tabbittie, last survivor of an all-Indian troop of the famed 7th Cavalry.

Tabbittie, a farmer in recent years, died Sunday. In his youth, he was a member of Troop L, 7th Cavalry.

The all-Indian troop was organized by Lt. Hugh Scott, later Chief of Staff of the U.S. Army in 1893. Historians say the troop was a hard-riding, crack-shooting outfit, but lacked discipline.

In 1897, the Army, on Scott's recommendation, disbanded the troop.

Only Short Lull Before Winter Theater Season

Oshkosh Community Theatre First to Get Underway With 'Gazebo' in Fall

BY JINGO

There will be only a slight pause in community theater activities before the winter season starts full blast. With the addition of college theater, the next season again will see action in all of the major centers that gave us such a wonderful summer time.

Jingo This will be the lucky 11 production for Mrs. Nonweiler's direction. The most recent shows under her control were "12 Angry Men," "Witness for the Prosecution" and "Torchbearers."

"The Gazebo" has many of the qualities found in those three.

Handling the detail work will be Mr. and Mrs. Thomas MacNichol, who were co-producers of "The Matchmaker" last season.

The impetuous of the swinging summer season just completed should keep the community theater ball rolling. Things continue to look up for theater fans in the Fox Cities area.

As might have been expected, the overwhelming success of "Anything Goes" and the rest of its summer season has given the Attie Theatre an undeniable store of energy. The troupe will be heard from during the winter season. However, the organization of details prevents announcement of the company's ambitious plans just now.

Center Director Looks For Star for Tryout

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Paul Baker is intensifying search for a star to appear in pre-Broadway tryout of "Joshua Beene and God" at the Dallas Theater Center.

Baker, director of the center, said that "for nearly two years I've wanted very much to stage the play, but we do not want to produce it until we have found the right actor for 'Josh'."

The character is described as "a benevolent old despot, nearly 70 years old, who completely dominates a small south Texas town. He has a lofty mission which he must accomplish in the one month which he believes he has left to live."

meat to balance the Broadway fare usually served from community boards.

Word from the sprawling confines of Hollywood reveals the inhabitants have more than Hollywood wolves to worry about. The hills abound with all kinds of small wild life, badgers, bobcats, cougars, skunks, weasels, foxes and, especially, coyotes. The other beasts are content to roam, but the coyotes try to get into the act. Moonlit nights find the hills resounding with coyote howls, often disconcerting to open air theatrical and musical efforts. Perhaps Wild West community theater has a place for all of its residents.

Kindergarten Program Set For Channel 11

Fond du Lac Teacher To Conduct Daily TV Romper Room School

Soon parents in northeastern Wisconsin will be able to send their children of pre-school age to kindergarten by simply turning on the family television set when WLWK-TV, Channel 11, presents The Romper Room School at 10 a.m., Monday through Friday, beginning Sept. 18.

The Romper Room School, a complete kindergarten on television features Miss Maureen Ly-saght of Fond du Lac as teacher, and six youngsters who attend school for a two-week period.

While these youngsters learn and play, thousands of boys and girls at home can participate in games, activities and educational features which have been tested and approved by leading child educators throughout the nation.

Romper Room, Inc., of Baltimore has been the recipient of many awards from civic, religious and educational groups in appreciation of the importance of the program to the youngsters of America.

Miss Maureen, as she will be known on the program, was selected from approximately 100 applicants for the position.

Russians 'Dig Dzhas' but It Must be Played Soviet Style

MOSCOW (AP) — From now on, jazz is in around here, man, but it's got to be Soviet style. You know, with melody, harmony, rhythm and all that stuff.

This is the word from the Soviet Union's leading "Dzhas" composer Alexander Tsfasman.

In an article in Izvestia, Tsfasman said he didn't like the bad press jazz had been getting in Soviet newspapers.

"When do they mention jazz?" the composer asked. "Only when it appears as an accomplice to criminal offenses and leads disolutes of the inner 'sweet life' to the defendant's bench."

Has to Stop

Even in the movies, he complained, a positive hero is backed up with national songs and "for the negative one—jazz."

This has got to stop, Tsfasman said, adding: "Jazz has firmly entered into our daily life and has become an integral part of our musical culture."

He noted that in the Russian Federated Republic alone more than 3,000 jazz bands are playing in various locales. But at the rate Soviet factories are turning out saxophones and clarinets it will take 30 years to fit them out, he said.

"No less important is the question of professional training," Tsfasman went on. He feels the time has come to open classes in music schools to train jazz band leaders, musicians and vocalists.

Tsfasman criticized some western jazzmen he said are playing "unemotionally and phlegmatically." He said they are using "cold and dead sounds."

"It must be said that these 'innovators' enjoy the recognition of a certain part of our youth who also fall for this style," Tsfasman complained.

Soviet Jazz Different

Soviet jazz, he explained, is different. You can tell it by its "mel-

8-30-10 (channel 2) — Playhouse 90 repeats a very effective melodrama called "Made in Japan," which shifts gears frequently during its 90 minutes. It starts out as a gossamer romance between a GI and a lovely, poetry-writing Japanese girl. Then it unexpectedly turns into tragedy with a death. The bulk of the show is devoted to the ethical problems that confront Dean Stockwell, as the love-struck GI, and his buddies. Nobu McCarthy is the woman in the case.

7-7-30 (channel 11) — The repeat on the Rifleman is from late 1959. It's a show that gets a bit precious — a baby turns up as the pivotal object. Between fights, there are some nice scenes with Mark (Johnny Crawford) caring for the baby.

7-30-8 (channel 2) — Dobie Gillis (Dwayne Hickman) becomes a reporter for the Central High School year book in this repeat. Editor Zella Gilroy (Sheila James) gives Dobie an assignment: Find "show-em-no-mercy" Appleby and do a story on the old grad's present activities.

8-4-30 (channel 2) — The beautiful and delightful Greer Garson turns up on Comedy Spot-light in a film that marked her TV film debut back in September, 1956. She's charming as an Irish schoolteacher who has a leprechaun in her life.

8-8 (channel 5-4) — Thriller's repeat is a tour de force for Edward Andrews who plays one of his whimsical heavies. He's a book dealer with an unfaithful wife (Patricia Barry). He borrows from literature (Edgar Allan Poe, etc.) for his murder methods, as he does away with his wife's lovers.

8-9-30 (channel 11) — Theater presents a repeat of a ghost story with a poppa ghost, a momma ghost and a child ghost. A childless couple discovers the ghosts when they rent a house, the ghosts talk of the child's death in such lurid detail that the couple becomes determined to find the previous tenants. This is very loosely based on a case in England in the mid-1920s.

10-30-12 (channel 5 - 4) Jack Parr's guests are Gary Morton, Kay Armen and Alexander King.

odiousness and life-affirmative-ness."

"Our jazz must answer these esthetic demands which we apply to Soviet music and a whole," he declared.

Another thing Tsfasman doesn't like is the way couples in restaurants and clubs dance to some songs that are "connected with events and feeling that are sacred to Soviet man."

"This is no longer frivolity but for the outrageous profanity," he said.

Company to Restore Residential Brooklyn As Cultural Center

NEW YORK (AP)—A resident-repository company is being set up to restore the city's residential borough of Brooklyn as a center of cultural activity.

"We hope to attract a new audience which presently cannot afford the outlandish prices of Broadway," said co-producer Joseph Yaver in announcing a $2.50 top for plays in the 1,200 seat Academy of Music.

The Brooklyn Theater Arts company plans five productions each year, starting with "Twelve Angry Men."

Prior to the advent of television and concentration of theatrical activity on the Great White Way, Brooklyn was a flourishing show center that attracted such luminaries as Sarah Bernhardt, Edwin Booth and the Barrymores.

Tap Classic Comedy For Modern Musical

NEW YORK (AP)—Classic comedy is being tapped anew as a source of modern musical entertainment.

"Shame the Devil," based on Richard Brinsley Sheridan's "The Rivals for Scandal," is slated for autumn presentation off-Broadway. Arthur Brandon is author of the score, with adaptation of the text and lyrics by Ed Menherth Jr.

Reportory Season to Feature Operettas

NEW YORK (AP)—A mixture of Gilbert and Sullivan with vintage operettas by other authors is being planned for a full season of reportory by Dorothy Raedler, head of the American Savoyards group.

A 20-week tour would follow New York production.

Miss Raedler explains that the old-time works "have a charm that is often lacking in modern musicals. When I hear the pop songs of today and realize that this is the stuff on which our teen-agers feed I become more and more convinced that those great Romberg, Herbert and Friml scores ought to be required listening."

Princess Season on Tap for Milady This Fall, Says Paris; Only Dior Embraces Stringbean Silhouette

Pair Weds in Catholic Nuptial Rite

Miss Rosemary Eiting became the bride of John Berghuis, route 4, Appleton, at 10:30 a.m. today at St. Francis Catholic Church, Hollandtown. The double ring nuptial rite was performed by the Rev. John G. DeVries. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Magdalen Eiting, Hollandtown. Mr. and Mrs. John Berghuis, route 3, Kaukauna are the parents of the bridegroom.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Robert Eiting, Menasha. Her sister, Mrs. Raymond Van Zeeland, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Thomas Van Vreede, Green Bay, and Miss Alice Eiting and Miss Helen Eiting, Hollandtown, sisters of the bride.

Robert Berghuis, Appleton, was his brother's best man. Thomas Berghuis, Kaukauna, also a brother of the bridegroom, acted as groomsmen, and ushering duties were performed by William J. Van Dyke, Kaukauna, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, and Raymond Van Zeeland, Wrightstown, brother-in-law of the bride.

Van Abel's Restaurant, Hollandtown, was the setting for a 12:30 p.m. dinner. A reception at Kaukauna. Her husband is also a graduate of Kaukauna High School. He is engaged in farming. The couple will honeymoon in northern Wisconsin and will live at route 4, Appleton.

The bride is a graduate of Kaukauna High School and has been employed at Roloff Mfg. Corp., 12:30 p.m. dinner. A reception at Kaukauna. Her husband is also a graduate of Kaukauna High School. BY NADEANE WALKER
PARIS (AP)—The just-released pictures of new Paris creations show that just about every term in the fashion dictionary has been dragged out and put to work for the 1961-62 fall and winter clothes. Capes, hoods, scarves, drapes, flares, godets, diagonals, tucks and gathers are all in the picture.

Basically, it's a princess season, with a cautious approach to figure-fitting lines. Only Marc Bohan of Dior throws caution to the winds and boldly embraces the stringbean silhouette. Even he makes some big flared skirts for insurance, just in case women are not quite ready to go back to corsets yet.

Sober Styles
Materials, colors and costume jewelry are kept sober, and for a good reason. The clothes themselves are busy with details and intricate bias cuts. One designer aptly describes them as "clothes conscious clothes."

For those already following Paris on length, there's no need to take up or let down hems. The dressmakers are holding the line just below the knee, with a few skittish mid-knee exceptions. This no-change policy foiled the rumor-mongers who said we were in for a letdown.

Brown is a top color, crowded

The Beige and brown wool sheath dress is from the collection of Guy Laroche. The new spiral line belt is attached to the dress by two buttons. The winter coat at left in beige wool features a broad stole of the same material worn around the upper arms. The beret is black felt. Pierre Balmain designed this for the autumn-winter fashion collection of Paris.

gray and beige are still good for daytime.

Hats Shrink
Hats have shrunk to reasonable sized helmets and turbans. Many of them are in fur, to go with such fur trimmings as collars, cuffs, hems and narrow outline bands. Some designers showed two-color furs, typically brown with beige. In the same theme are wool coats lined with a contrasting color in the same wool.

Belts have never been so plentiful since the sack consigned them to the limbo that is always only temporary in the fashion world. Most of them are wide ones for good measure.

Little Red Riding Hood seems to have been just about everybody's inspiration this season. Capes and hoods are all over.

Plaids in Vogue
Plaids are almost the only break from plain solid colors. Things get gay for the evening, though, with sinuous sequins and beads, glittering lame and embroidery, brocades and cut velvet. The long slim evening dress has snatched the lead from big-skirted ball dresses.

In a season that seemed tame by comparison with the old days of Fath and Schiaparelli, Nina Ricci's designer Jules Crahay came up with the only thing approaching a dramatic creation. This was his one-sleeved cape, with fan front thrown up over one shoulder.

The Suit in caramel shetland wool is from the collection of Parisian couturier Pierre Cardin. It features a sheath skirt and short jacket fastened with three large brown leather buttons. A novel addition is the half stole which is a continuation of the collar. The toque is in red Canadian fox. The long evening gown at left features a coral red satin skirt and bodice in coral red and gold pearl embroideries. Pierre Balmain is the designer.

Parties Held For Bride-Elect

Miss June Schroeder, who will be married Sept. 23 to Richard Gardner, has been feted at two pre-nuptial parties.

On Aug. 15 a party was held at Lower Cliff. Hostesses were Mrs. Richard Werner, Mrs. Lyle Wunderlich, Mrs. Donald Wunderlich and Mrs. Waldo Wunderlich, aunts of the bride.

Mrs. Florence Scharmann and Miss Germaine Gardner entertained Aug. 22 at Miss Gardner's home, 914 W. Bell Ave.

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Leo Schroeder, 1015 N. Appleton St., and Mr. and Mrs. Milan Gardner, 914 W. Bell Ave.

Allow Extra for Ribbon Shrinkage

Because some ribbon may shrink up to three inches per yard, it's best to pre-shrink ribbon before using it in any kind of needlework.

Wash in soap or detergent suds, rinse, let drip-dry, and press it flat before it is stitched to the item it trims when laundered.

Shirred Fabric Shutters

One of newest ideas for something different for windows shirred fabric within shutter frames. Little curtain style plus shutter style adds up to a third style, which has a fresh and individual effect on a room.

The shutter frames are ordered to fit windows, just as louvered shutters are, and come without fabric no choice for the little shirred curtains is unlimited. Completing the panels is simply a matter of plain sewing on any fabric that's right for the room. The frames come equipped with tiny rods which have spring ends to make them easy to remove and replace. Thus the hemmed lengths of fabric that shirr on them are easy to remove and replace, too, for washing or cleaning, and for a complete change at any time the room scheme changes.

INTERNATIONAL DESIGNER PATTERN

The simplicity of the ever-popular shirtwaist dress is given added attractiveness in Lachasse of London's version with its bias neckband, the ends passing through a loop for softness. The waist gathers to the slim skirt, distinguished by its sunburst front. The center back slit allows for ease in walking. A wonderful, go-anywhere dress you will find an indispensable addition to your wardrobe. Make it in novelty cottons, printed rayons, silks, lightweight woolsens, jersey, crepe shantung. From these corresponding body measurements select the one size best for you. Our sizing is comparable to ready-to-wear.

play the diamonds in the hope that the queen would drop. He played dummy's ace and king of diamonds, but the only thing that dropped was South's chin as he managed to snuggle only seven tricks.

"Very silly," you may say. Agreed. But South was an experienced player, and perhaps you'd better knock wood to make sure it couldn't happen to you. While you're knocking that wood, give East credit for his imaginative play at the first trick. If East played the ace of spades, South would have no fear of the spades. He would try a diamond finesse and would wind up making eleven or twelve tricks.

Daily Question Partner opens with one heart, and the next player bids two diamonds. You hold: S A J 9 7 2, H 9 6, D 9, C 9 6 5 3 2. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. The hand may be a misfit. If partner has strength in the unbid suits, he will reopen the bidding with a takeout double. If he cannot, you won't lose much by staying out of the bidding.

Our Children

Choice of Career Must Come Slowly

BY ANGELO PATRI

The providence that guides the growth of children allowed them 30 odd years for growth and some development of their potential abilities. Those abilities, once discovered and used, can be polished to a fine shine for many years to come. Yet we find ourselves hurrying boys and girls in the dawn of their learning day. Often the result is that they "get there" breathless and without the essential baggage of understanding, culture, and skill.

Take for example the junior high schools. These schools take the boys and girls who are entering adolescence, a period of uncertainty, insecurity. Their growth makes them uneasy; their minds are confused by the many voices, the many activities, the diverse ways they see and hear every day. And always the brief-ness of time is pressed upon their attention. This should not be.

The guidance teacher asks, "What would you like to be?" In my experience with such boys and girls — and it is not slight — this is the last question to ask them. It is the one area of their lives that they know least about.

Youth Needs Time These children are scarcely beyond the "fireman, policeman, movie star and actress" stage. They have no solid basis for such a decision. Their abilities are still unexplored and only time and experience will enable them to answer that question wisely. Too often they, knowing the teacher is waiting for an answer, say the first thing that comes to mind. The junior high school is the place where boys and girls have, change as the pupils change, and or should have, time to explore, change they surely do. That is the field of education through one sure thing about these children, books, shops, laboratories, excursions, their changing growth; new sions through various forms of phases of their being continually culture, industry and art. Every come to the surface. The school one of these children should be — to function — must be ready exposed relentlessly to the best to meet such changes and de-books, the best forms of art and develop them as fully as possible to the wonders of science. And at the time. Remember that boys they all should be exposed to for- and girls keep changing along sign languages. even through high school and col-The school program should lege

Miss Bubolz Feted At Bridal Parties

Miss Amelia Bubolz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bubolz, 78 River Drive, has been feted at many pre-nuptial parties in honor of her approaching marriage. She will be married Saturday to Walter S. Rugland, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rugland, 124 River Drive.

Today's Etiquette

SAFETY IN NUMBERS My daughter who graduated from college this year is taking a position in a large city. She wants to get an apartment of her own. I keep telling her that a well bred girl doesn't. Maybe I'm old fashioned. What do you think?

MY HUSBAND TABOO When one of my closest friends speaks to me (others too) of her husband, she always says, "My husband". Is this correct? If not, do you think it would be all right if I mention it to her?

Tip for Washing Baby's Soiled Bib Keep a bowl of sudsy water on hand, and drop baby's bibs in as soon as each is soiled. They will be easier to launder if not allowed to dry; also, the suds action prevents unpleasant odors from permeating the house.

the couple June 16 at Riverview Country Club by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Adams and Mr. and Mrs. John Gall.

Mrs. Burnell Schubbe and Mrs. Harvey Buntrock were co-hostesses at a personal shower June 22 at the Schubbe home, 607 E. Pershing St. A dinner and miscellaneous shower were given Aug. 15 by Mrs. Louis Horn Jr. and Mrs. W. H. Phillips.

North Shore Golf Club was the setting for a tea Aug. 18 given by Mrs. Rugland. On Aug. 22 a brunch and miscellaneous shower were held at Butte des Morts Golf Club. Hostesses were Mrs. T. H. Hartman, Mrs. Henry Scheig, Mrs. Herbert Voecks, Mrs. William Zuehlke Jr. and Mrs. C. G. Steinwedel. A dinner for the immediate families was given Aug. 28 at the Elmer Root cottage at Lake Winnebago.

Mrs. LeRoy Stohlman's home, 1725 S. Connell St., will be the setting today for a dinner. Co-hostesses are Mrs. L. B. McBain and Mrs. Bernard Heselon.

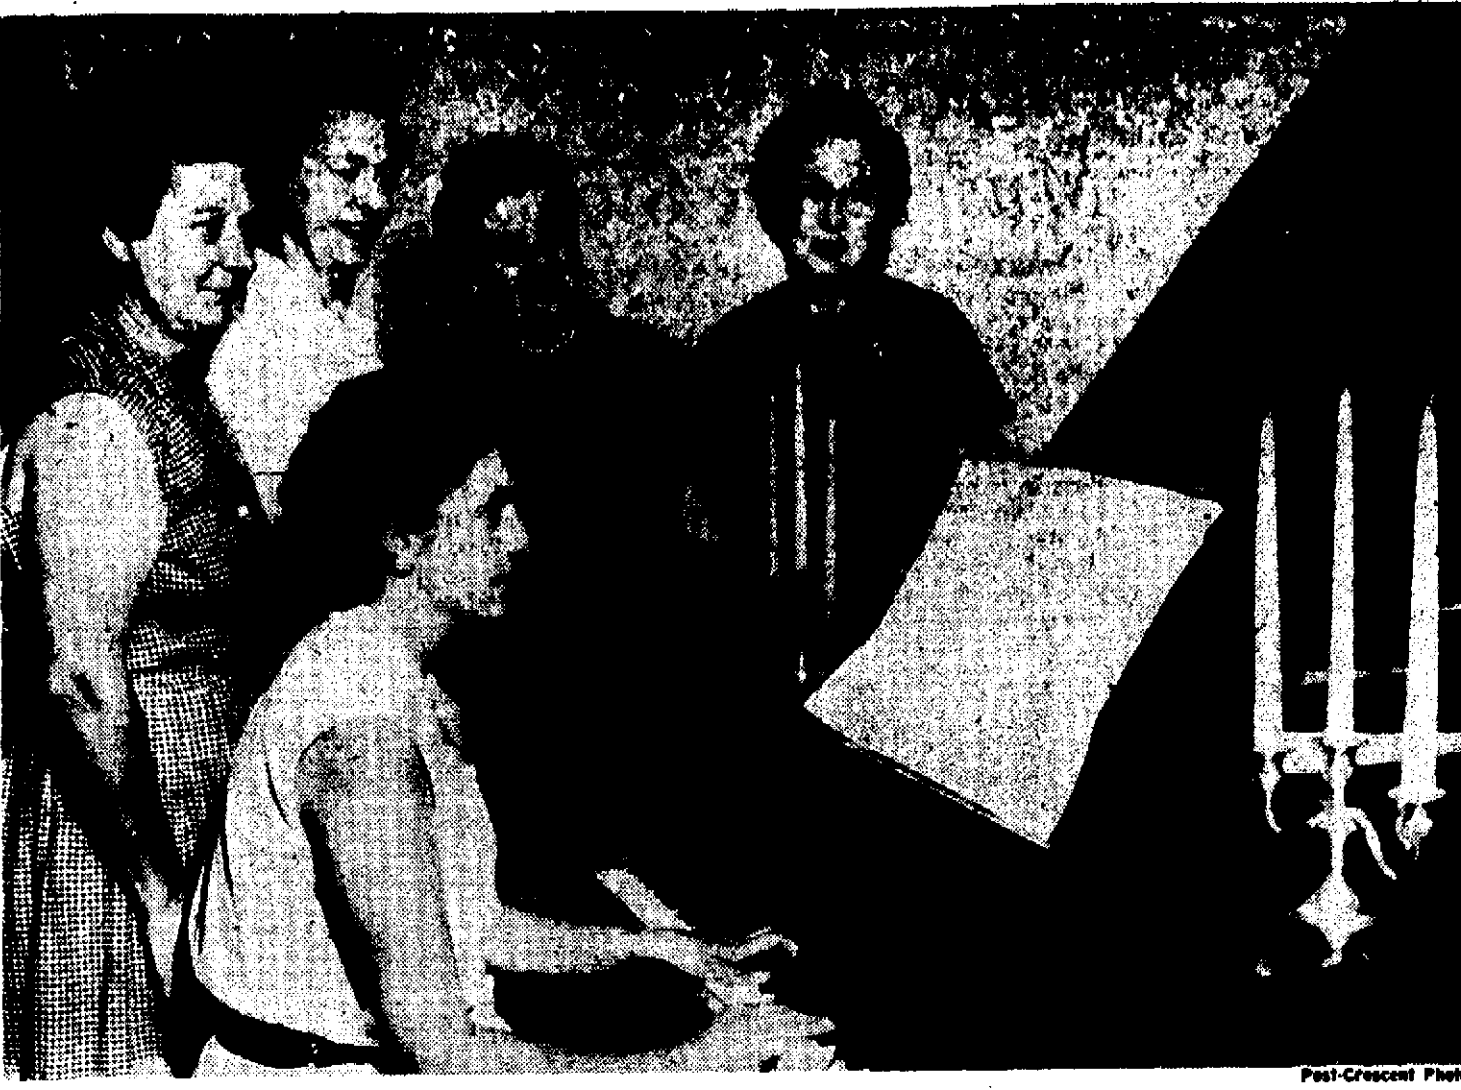

Mr. and Mrs. Rugland will host the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at North Shore Golf Club for the wedding party.

Homemaker Talks Open In Maine

Mrs. Henry D. Schaefer, Appleton, Mrs. Loyall Larson, Larsen, and Mrs. Robert Engel, Mrs. Margaret Martzke and Mrs. Arnold Westphal, Shawano, left Friday to attend the National Home Demonstration Council meeting in Orono, Maine. A delegation of 80 Wisconsin women is attending the four-day session.

Main speakers at the sessions will consider how the trends of our times should influence the direction of this adult education program. Speakers include Owen Durgin, experiment station stationer; James Crow, home economics director; Dr. E. T. York, administrator of the Federal Extension Service, Washington, D. C.; Dr. Helen Hurd, dean of students, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J.; and Louis P. Shannon, E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Co., Wilmington, Del.

Heading Wisconsin's delegation, which represents 50,000 state women enrolled in 3,000 community education groups, are Mrs. William Kitzrow, Racine, state president, Mrs. Lawrence Fisher, Valders, central region director, and Miss Josephine Pollock, Madison, assistant state leader.

Mrs. Stanley Gross, 210 W. Edgewood Drive, treasurer of Woodlawn School district, entertained new teachers of Woodlawn School Saturday evening at a potluck supper. Singing around the piano are Mrs.

Ray Rummel, Mrs. Gross, Mrs. Harold Versteegen, Little Chute, new assistant principal, Mrs. Donald Biselx, Kaukauna, and Mrs. Arthur Lascelles. School will begin Sept. 5.

Miss Jacobs Guest of Honor At Showers

Miss Barbara Jacobs has been guest of honor at several recent bridal showers. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jacobs, 1209 N. Union St. Miss Jacobs will become the bride of Allan Schellhout, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schellhout, Manitowoc, Sept. 2.

Co-workers at Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co., entertained the bride-elect at a dinner and shower July 19 at Van Abel's Restaurant, Hollandtown. Mrs. Joseph Schellhout was hostess at a coin shower and luncheon Aug. 12 in Manitowoc.

Mrs. Wayne Peterman feted Miss Jacobs Aug. 15 at a miscellaneous shower and luncheon. Mrs. Herman Hoeppner and Mrs. Reno Doerfler were hostesses at a luncheon and miscellaneous shower Aug. 17 at the home of Mrs. Hoeppner, 1203 N. Union St. Mrs. Al Weidenhaupt, Kaukauna, also entertained the bride elect at a linen shower and luncheon Aug. 24.

Reunion Held At Alicia Park

Thirty-seven families attended the annual Uhlenbrauck family reunion Sunday at Alicia Park. Potluck dinner and supper were served.

Kenneth Uhlenbrauck, Appleton, was elected family president. Clifford Hintz, Appleton, was named vice president, and Mrs. Raymond Schutte, Neenah, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Marvin Uhlenbrauck, Black Creek, and Mrs. Walter Palmbach, Medina, will be historians.

Burlap Fabric May be Washed

If that newly-fashionable fabric—burlap—has found its way into your wardrobe, you'll be happy to learn that it can be safely laundered at home.

A major producer of burlap recommends washing it separately by hand, in lukewarm soap or detergent suds and rinses. Just dip the garment up and down in the suds and rinses, hang it to drip, and smooth it while drying. If pressing is needed, use a warm—not hot—iron.

Refugee Tells Difficulties Of Leaving All Behind

BY JUDY BARDEN Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

BERLIN — "If your husband came home at 6 o'clock one evening and said 'We are leaving for good on the 8 o'clock train — no luggage.' What would you do?"

This question was asked me by a 35-year-old woman refugee. Before I had time to think about it, she continued.

"I thought of the stupidest things. Who will water the rubber plant? Who will feed the cat? Where is the cat?"

"Then the enormity of it struck me. He had said 'we are leaving for good'—no luggage!"

Terrible Decision

"We had been talking about getting out for some time, but neither of us could bring ourselves to make the move. When you know you can take nothing with you, when you know, even though you are only moving into the other half of your own country, that you must start from the bottom again, to simply leave was an enormous decision."

"But we were leaving. My husband had heard of the thousands of East Germans crossing the border. He decided that would be stopped."

"They will never allow this many young people to get out," he said. "They will close the crossings."

"He was right of course. But suddenly at the last moment I wanted to stay. I could not bear to leave silly things like curtains and cushions. I rushed from room to room picking up little things and stuffing them into an overnight bag."

"By 7 o'clock I had a bag full of ornaments, including a tennis cup my husband had won at school."

"I was carefully closing all the windows when he came in."

"What are you doing?" he asked.

"Closing the windows," I replied.

"What for?" he inquired and I said "it might rain."

"He just looked at me and I realized it no longer mattered if there was an earthquake, we were not coming back."

"For the first time in our lives, we did not lock the door and as I was walking down the stairs to the street I remembered by son's christening pillow. I rushed back up with my husband shouting 'there is no time.'

"But somehow I could not leave without the pillow. And I could not find it."

"I tore up our three rooms looking for it. I emptied every drawer and cupboard out onto the floor. It was not there. I became frantic."

"I felt I could not leave without it and then I remembered I had loaned it to a friend for the christening of her baby. So I came without it."

"When my husband asked for some clean underwear this morning I said 'we do not have any.'"

Holes in Socks

"What is in that bag?" he asked and I opened it and showed him his tennis cup, two brass ash-trays with our initials on them, a silver rose bowl that had been a wedding present, my knitting and at the bottom three pairs of socks. They had holes in them. I had used this bag for mending. "So he changed only his socks."

Scouts Announce Two Appointments

Fox River Area Girl Scout Council has announced the appointment of two professional workers.

Mrs. Robert Greenwalt, Appleton, has accepted the position of district advisor, replacing Miss Marion Hof who is leaving to work with St. Paul Girl Scouts. Mrs. Greenwalt has been a leader in the council since the fall of 1959 and a unit leader at Camp Winneconac. In 1960 she was a site director for Winneconac. She is a graduate of Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh.

Miss Colleen Myers, Seminole, Okla., who has served as district advisor in Decatur, Ill., since 1957, will join the Fox River Council Oct. 1.

Miss Myers worked with neighborhoods and districts in Decatur and served as business manager and director of their established camp. She will be a camping advisor in the local council, which will include coordinating the camping program of the council and will direct Chalk Hills Camp.

Miss Myers is a graduate of Millikin University in Decatur, receiving her master's degree in guidance.

She will work with Miss Wendy Wyatt, district advisor, and Miss Esther Pickles, executive director of Fox River Area Council.

Marriage Vows Said Saturday

The marriage of Miss Christine Gladys Rice and Merlin V. Cummings was performed at 2 p.m. Saturday at Congregational Church, New London. The single ring rite was performed by the Rev. Alfred C. Davis. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewain Rice Jr., route 1, Manawa. Mrs. Maria Cummings, 520 E. Cook St., New London, is the mother of the bridegroom.

The bride chose Mrs. Kerran Prah, New London, as her matron of honor. Kerran Prah served the bridegroom as best man. Ushering duties were performed by Marlin Rice, the bride's brother, and Albert Buss, a cousin of the bride.

A dinner was served at 4 p.m. at the home of the bride's parents.

The couple will live at 302 1/2 Beacon Ave., New London.

The bride graduated from Little Wolf High School, Manawa. Her husband is an alumnus of Washington High School, New London, and is employed at Curtis Companies, Inc.

Relief Corps Has Dessert, Cards

NEW LONDON — A dessert luncheon preceded an afternoon of cards when the Henry Turner Relief Corps met Monday at the home of Mrs. L. C. Thomas, Beacon Avenue.

The Ailing House How to Take Neck Off of Bottle

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN
MILDEWED WALLPAPER

Q: Can mildew be removed from wallpaper without damage to the paper?
A: Not usually. Mildew is a fungus and can be completely removed only with something in the nature of a disinfectant to be sure the spores are killed. Bleaching solutions will remove mildew of the paper. Replacement of the mildewed area (after correcting the cause for the mildew) is the only satisfactory solution.

OPAQUE WINDOW

Q: Do you have any suggestions on how to make a bathroom window on the first floor opaque? We want the light it gives but also want privacy.

A: A paint for "frosted" surfaces is available in aerosol form at many paint, hardware and houseware dealers; this can be sprayed over the panes. Or cover the window panes with sheets of white tissue paper cut to fit and apply spar varnish, thinned with one-fourth as much turpentine. This will act as an adhesive for the paper and make it waterproof.

For a ground glass effect, pat the glass with a lump of putty softened with linseed oil, allow to dry for 24 hours and then repeat treatment. Before applying any of these coatings to the panes, be sure the glass surface is absolutely clean and free of any trace of grease, grime, etc.

VARNISH TOO THICK

Q: I have some top quality varnish in a partly-used can that has been stored in the cellar for quite a while. It was tightly covered, but thickened anyway. Can this be thinned so that it could be used?

A: The air contained in the empty part of the can has probably partly oxidized the linseed oil and I doubt if the varnish could be used with any success. However, try adding a little turpentine to thin the varnish. Be resigned to discarding.

PLASTER BLISTERS

Q: The plaster on our entrance hallway walls developed blisters which appear foamy at first, burst, and remain very crusty. What do you suggest? We have two-story house, finished attic and basement, wood siding, oil-fired steam heat.

A: The blistering is probably caused by lime that was not sufficiently slaked. Slaking continues as moisture absorbed from the air, and will eventually be complete; the plaster, of course, will be powdery and softened. Best remedy would be to replace the plaster. Or wait until the blistering stops, then brush off all loose particles and smooth on another finish coat of plaster.

MORTAR FOR STUOP

Q: My brick stoop needs re-pointing at several places. What mortar mix is recommended for this?

A: Use a mix of 1 part portland cement, 3 parts clean, coarse sand, and one-fifth as much hydrated lime as cement. Dig out loose mortar in the joints for at least 1/2 inch, using a cold chisel, beer can opener or old screw driver.

Brush out all loose particles and moisten the brick surface with water; then apply the mortar with a pointed mason's trowel. Latex patching cement can also be used for small areas; this is available at many hardware and masonry supplies dealers.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q: Is it proper to keep a kitten tied up at a vacation resort where she cannot run around freely as at home? M. Leonardo, Youngstown, Ohio.

A: Never tie a cat up, anywhere. It is simply impossible for a cat to defend herself against dogs and other enemies while tied to a leash. A cat's greatest defense against most of her natural enemies is to beat a hasty retreat, if necessary up the nearest tree or pole. Tied down, a cat is

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Eyebrow Know-How

It seems that many lovelies have become extra eyebrow-conscious. Doubtless this is due to the increased use of eye cosmetics. When the lid is shadowed and the lash mascaraed, brow problems become more pronounced.

In any event, letters from readers are packed with questions about improving the brows. Some recur many times. They are repeated and answered below. Could be you will find a solution, therein, to your pet poser.

Is it advisable for a young teen to pluck her eyebrows? Only stragglers should be removed. Tapering with the shape of the brow, itself, gives an unnatural look to a young face. Too, the hairs do not always grow back.

Many a woman has a scanty brow because she tweezed them at a too early age into a thin line. It could be a case of pluck now, and pay later.

Can naturally skinny brows be made to grow? Nothing yet discovered turns that trick. The best move is to pencil in the missing strands. Also there are some very good fake brows.

How can plucking be made less painful? Beforehand, compress warm water to the brows and smooth on a bit of petroleum jelly. Tweeze only one hair at a time; grip it close to its base and pull in the direction of growth.

Another help is to stretch the brow taut with your free hand.

What's the best method of darkening light brows? With mascara—use light brown on blond brows, charcoal on white brows. Dyeing is a second possibility, but only in the hands of a reliable salon operator.

To firm and uplift sagging facial muscles and flesh, use my four-way method. It works wonders through corrective exercise, posture, skin care and make-up. Procedures are detailed in the leaflet, "Banish Crepey Throat and Chin." For your copy, write me in care of your newspaper, enclosing 10 cents in coin and a large self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your Problems

Factory Wife Should Develop Deaf Ear or Find a New Job

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife asked me to write to you about her problem. She says she's too upset.

She works in a factory where all the employees in her department are women. They all work on machines but they don't consider themselves laborers, they think they are critics. Every evening my wife comes home in tears because of what somebody said.

The women find fault with her hair, her dresses, the way she talks and the kind of sandwiches she brings for lunch. One old crow even suggested that she sign up for a "poise course" to learn how to walk better. I think my wife walks just fine.

What can I do to smooth things down at the factory? If this keeps up my wife may quit and we need her check. — Turk

Dear Turk: This is a Do-It-Yourself Project. You can't fight your wife's battles for her. As Harry Truman used to say, if she can't stand the heat she'd better get out of the kitchen. Maybe a new factory is the answer if all else fails...

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been married 11 years and have four children, but this letter is not about me, it's about my sister.

She is 16 and has been going with a boy who is 18. They informed my mother last night that they want to get married. He makes $1.25 an hour and his parents say it's all right with them if that's what the kids want. My sister has never earned a dime and says she never will.

She is the youngest 16 I ever saw in my life. She doesn't know anything about keeping house and has no sense of honor when it comes to paying bills. She'll charge until her credit is ruined, then she'll go charge someplace else.

My mother is tired of fighting with this girl. She says maybe marriage will grow her up. What do you say? — Afraid

Dear Afraid: I'm afraid, too — that your mother is wrong. How can an irresponsible, empty-headed child get anything out of marriage when she brings nothing to it?

Your mother's attitude is one of total surrender, which is what she has done all along. She should accept part of the responsibility for the present mess. Who raised this vegetable anyway?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I go with a lovely girl and I am considering asking her the big question. Only one thing is holding me back — she smokes like a chimney. I have never asked her to stop, although she is aware that I'd be mighty happy if she did. She coughs a lot and she smells like the smoking car of a commuter train.

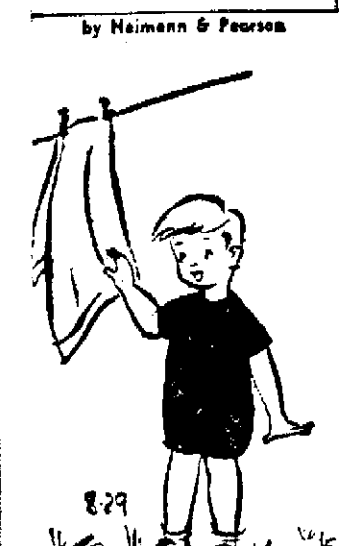

The question is this: Should a young man (not engaged) be expected to buy a pack of cigarettes for a young woman whenever they are out for an evening? Is this considered part of the expense of a date? In my opinion it is ridiculous to buy cigarettes for a girl when I hate to see her smoke and she knows it. — No Filter

Dear Ed: A male escort is under no obligation to buy cigarettes for his chimney — I mean his girl friend.

It seems to me, however, that you are swallowing the camel and straining at the gnat. The disagreement over her smoking may not be im-

Klein Says He Needs Help to Do Police Work

Charges Chief 'Negligent in Duty' When Asked to Investigate Tavern

MENASHA—The city's mayor says he can't clean up trouble in Menasha without outside help. "I haven't been getting any co-operation from my own chief of police," Mayor John Klein declared this morning.

Police Chief Peter Clark is in Janesville, attending the state chiefs' association meeting.

Mayor Klein referred to an arrest made at the Menasha Rec. Tavern, 225 Main St., by a state division of beverage and cigarette taxes enforcement official.

Acting on the request of an "anonymous" letter-writer from Menasha, the state officer made a spot check at the tavern on a Sunday afternoon three weeks ago and found three minors loitering. They were fined, as was Earl Peters, operator of the tavern, for allowing minors to loiter.

Klein wrote to the beverage tax division July 31 requesting that the spot check be made.

"Negligent in Duties"

Klein said this morning, "I feel that Chief Clark has been negligent in his duties. People approached me several times to tell me that kids have been hanging around that tavern and I felt it was my duty to do something about it."

Klein today sent a letter to George Lenz, president of Police and Fire Commission, informing him of the action he had taken. The letter read:

"After my letter of July 24, which I directed to you as president of the Police and Fire Commission, I mentioned that you would receive additional letters from me when I found out that Chief Clark was not performing his duties. If I did not bring this to your attention, I would feel that I was being negligent in performing my duties.

"A short time ago I requested Chief Clark to check the Menasha

Board of Review Cuts Assessment; Sustains Others

One assessment was reduced and two others sustained by Appleton Board of Review Monday. Other property owners are scheduled to appear before the Board, which meets from 10 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4 p.m. daily this week.

The assessment of W. G. Rutten, Kaukauna, for property between Locust and Spencer Streets on Badger Avenue was reduced $500.

Requests for reduction of assessments on property owned by Barney Gamsky and Alden M. Johnston were denied. W. H. Gmeiner had asked for a reduction, but withdrew his request.

Monday actions reduce the city's total assessment to $132,210,900. Last year's assessments totaled $115,634,925.

Motorcyclist in Chase With Police Fined $200

An Appleton motorcyclist who led county and city police on a high speed chase through Appleton and was trapped in a back yard by seven police cars was fined $200 and his driver's license was revoked for one year when he appeared before Municipal Judge Gustave Keller Monday.

Charles K. Smith, 28, 206 W. Seymour St., was fined $75 for reckless driving, $50 for two counts of speeding, and $15 each for driving without lights, failing to stop for an emergency vehicle making an illegal turn, operating his vehicle on the left side of the road and failing to signal for turns.

3,200 Attend Holy Name Prayer Hour

Nearly 3,200 persons attended the 1961 Holy Hour of Prayer at Goodland Field Monday.

The event was sponsored by the Holy Name Societies of Appleton, Kaukauna, Little Chute, Kimberly, Darboy, Mackville, Freedom and Combined Locks in cooperation with the Knights of Columbus Councils in the Outagamie Deanery.

The sermon was given by the Rev. Alfred Lison, spiritual director of Xavier High School. The service included singing, unison prayers, pledges and recitation of a living rosary.

Speech Work May be Cut

Therapist Resigns From Appleton Job; 1 1/2 Vacancies Exist

Appleton public schools' speech correction program probably will have to be curtailed this semester, Supt. Royce E. Kurtz told the board of education Monday as he reported 1 1/2 vacancies in the department.

Mrs. Jennie Lee Wagner resigned as speech correctionist because of health, Kurtz said. Mrs. Dolores Skarda, who has four years of experience, was hired part time.

Kurtz said that in the two weeks since he reported a shortage of correctionists, two people under contract with other schools have inquired about jobs for next year. Another applicant was not certified as a speech correctionist.

The superintendent said he hoped Mrs. Wagner could return or midyear graduates be hired for the second semester.

The board also approved new contracts for Mrs. Mildred Halbach, former Red Star School teacher, as second grade teacher at Lincoln and Mrs. Ann Roelofs as English teacher at Appleton High School. Robert Hallada, high school mathematics and chemistry teacher, was given a $100 salary increase for earning 15 credits beyond his bachelor's degree.

Algae Blamed For Water's Taste, Odor

Algae, small green plants that grow in Lake Winnebago and the Fox River each summer, are to blame for the unpleasant odor and taste of Fox Cities water, Appleton Water Department Plant Superintendent William Gallaher explained.

The algae are particularly bad this year, he added. The plants produce an oil and generate odor when they grow and when they die.

Appleton Water Department spends $200 a day on activated carbon which removes 90 to 95 per cent of the algae, Gallaher said. The impurities are not harmful and are found in water of some eastern cities all the time, he said.

Board Denies Garage Request

A request by Edwin Ahrens Jr., 1834 Palisades Dr., to build a two-car garage next to the two family home at 607 E. Wilson Ave. was denied by the board of appeals Monday.

The garage would have allowed only four feet of side yard. Property owners should arrange parking space when buildings are constructed rather than asking exceptions to the zoning law later, board members said.

The house is about two years old.

New Radio Dispatcher Named in Winnebago Sheriff's Department

OSHKOSH — The Winnebago County Board sheriff and coroner's committee Monday afternoon appointed Paul Larish 26, 1113 N. Sawyer St., Oshkosh, radio dispatcher in the sheriff's department.

He will begin work next week.

Larish succeeds Donald Hendry, who resigned Aug. 31 after graduating from Oshkosh State College earlier this month.

Larish had worked for Meyer Sausage Co., Oshkosh, for eight years. He is married and has two children.

The committee also put Douglas Meyer, one of several relief radio dispatchers, on a regular schedule.

Transportation Will Cost Appleton Schools $50,000

Board Agrees to Comply With State Law, Provide Rides for Potato Point High School Youths

Transportation will cost the Appleton School District about $50,000 during the school year which starts next week, the board of education was told Monday.

The board also decided to comply with a state transportation law no one in the district had bothered about before.

More than 600 students will have their bus fares paid by the district. Two different policies will be in effect, explained Roland Nock, director of pupil transportation:

In the city, free transportation is provided for elementary students living more than a mile from school and for elementary and junior high students transferred out of their regular schools. The free transportation includes rides home for lunch. Other students in the city may ride the buses by paying their own fares.

Red Star Different

In the newly attached Red Star District of the Town of Harrison, free rides to and from school but not home for lunch will be provided for anyone living more than two miles from school, elementary or secondary. High school transportation must be provided to comply with a state law that applies only to areas outside city limits.

But the Appleton district never has provided free transportation to high school students in the Potato Point area of the Town of Grand Chute. It was pointed out that the area, attached to the city for school purposes in 1957, is was more than two miles from Appleton High School.

No one from Potato Point has asked for free transportation, Nock said.

'Glad to Get In'

Board president Mrs. Myrl N. Davis suggested the reason the people haven't asked may be that they were so glad to get in after the fight. "Attachment of the area, part of old District 10, was made after several years of debates, petitions, hearings and appeals to state officials."

The state law says "the school boards of all school districts op-

Third of Voters Register in Town of Menasha

MENASHA — About a third of the eligible voters in the Town of Menasha have registered for forthcoming elections. Town Clerk Robert Jacobs reported today.

Registration was last week.

The western section had 130 registrations and the eastern 570. All eligible voters must be registered prior to the election next April, in addition to new residents.

Future registrations will be in January and again before the registration deadline in March.

Girl Injured In 2-Car Mishap

KIMBERLY — Over $600 damage resulted and a passenger in one of two cars received a head cut in an accident on Washington Street about 7:25 p.m. Saturday, according to village police.

Barbara Van Nuland, 14, daughter of Anton L. Van Nuland, 49, 212 S. Washington St., Kimberly, driver of one of the cars, had a cut to the back of her head which required 10 stitches. She was confined at St. Elizabeth Hospital for observation and was released Monday.

Police report Van Nuland was driving north on Washington when his vehicle was hit from behind by a car driven by Urban C. Gerrits, 20, route 2, Kaukauna.

Gerrits told police he took his eyes off the road momentarily to look in the rear view mirror at a car approaching from behind at a high rate of speed.

Oil Firm to Raze Houses to Expand

Cities Service Oil Co. plans to raze two houses and rebuild its service station at Badger Avenue and Memorial Drive.

Charles Tebo, territory supervisor for the company, said it is acquiring the two pieces of residential properties behind the station on Badger and Memorial.

The 30-year-old station will be rebuilt in modern style farther back from the corner.

A building permit for the new station lists costs is $25,000. It will be 45 by 29 feet in size and of masonry construction.

Post Pub. Co. Paid No Fees for Union

Counsel for Labor Group Says He Was Not Paid by Company

The Post Publishing Co., which publishes the Appleton Post-Crescent, never paid legal fees for the Post-Crescent Craftsman's Union, and never offered to set up a fund so the union could hire legal or labor counsel.

This information was given in testimony this morning during the second day of a National Labor Relations Board hearing on a complaint of unfair labor practices brought by the NLRB.

The complaint resulted from charges by the International Typographical Union Local 612 claiming the company gave unlawful aid, assistance and support to the Craftsman's Union.

Municipal Judge Gustave J. Keller, a witness for the company, said he had been retained as an attorney by the Craftsman's Union, before his appointment as judge earlier this month. He said he was hired by the union and paid by the union.

No Offer Made

V. I. Minahan, editor and president of the company, said he never offered to see if a fund could be set up to provide the union with money to hire legal or labor counsel.

Daniel Haase, Douglas Kranzsch, Robert Cleveland and Carl Reitz, mechanical department employees, have testified that Minahan offered to see what could be done about a fund for the union so it could hire counsel.

Kranzsch said under cross-examination that the company never paid for an attorney for the union and never set up a fund for one.

Judge Keller testified the union hired him to see if the Craftsman's Union complied with the law, and, if not, what steps had to be taken to make it conform.

The judge said he wrote to various U. S. Labor Department and National Labor Relations Board offices to make inquiries, and was

A 15-year old Appleton youth escaped injury Monday when his hydroplane flipped over on the Fox River about 100 feet west of Sunset Point.

Donald Mullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mullen, 2443 E. Wisconsin Ave., clung to the overturned boat for about an hour before being rescued by Outagamie County and Kimberly police.

Mullen said the accident took place at about 7:30 p.m. as he was crossing the river from his grandfather's dock to a raft beached on the other side. The youth said a steering cable stuck and the boat overturned when he jerked the wheel to free it.

A group of girls playing on the river bank heard Mullen's shouts and alerted police. County patrolman Joseph Vanden Oever and Kimberly Patrolman Frank Van Cuyck rescued Mullen using the raft toward which he was headed. Elmer Wolfinger, 323 Ann St., Kimberly, who was at Sunset Point Park, provided a 25-horsepower motor to power the raft.

Oshkosh Man Denies Hit, Run, Reckless Driving

OSHKOSH — Harold Marquardt, 33, 245 Gruenwald Ave., Neenah, denied a disorderly conduct charge when arraigned before municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane this morning. He posted $500 bond for trial at 10:30 a.m. Friday.

Marquardt was arrested Monday night by Neenah police on a complaint signed by a neighbor, who claimed that Marquardt was attempting to enter her house.

Appleton to Pay Some Tuition Fees

Appleton will pay tuition for Menasha High School juniors and seniors from Red Star district this year.

Although Appleton High School has room for all students from the newly attached area, state law requires reorganized districts to pay tuition for students who have been at another high school for two or three years. Supt. Royce E. Kurtz told the board of education Monday.

Oshkosh City Officers To be Closed for Fair

OSHKOSH — Oshkosh city employees will have Wednesday afternoon off from work to attend the Winnebago County Fair. Wednesday has been designated Oshkosh Day at the fair.

All city offices will close at noon Wednesday.

Barney Gamsky, left, tells the Appleton Board of Review Monday why he thinks his property assessment is too high. Board members are, from left, Ald. Donald Mueller, Charles Captain, Clifford Radder and William Ertl; City Clerk Elden J. Broehm, and Ald. R. P. Groh and Al H. Stoegbauer. The board meets from 10 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4 p.m. daily this week to hear taxpayers' complaints.

Kimberly to Have Bond Referendum

Approval Asked for $2 Million Issue to Finance New High School

KIMBERLY — A referendum against incorporating a swimming pool into the new structure, due to finance construction of a new high school has been approved by the Board of Education.

The referendum probably will school will then attempt to enter into an agreement with the village to use the pool for school purposes.

Board members voted to continue preparing a brochure to be made available to citizens in the school district before the referendum vote. The brochure will present facts about the proposed school, population and school enrollment trends and information on financing the building.

Oshkosh Man Denies Charges

OSHKOSH — William R. Suda, 23, 1624 Jefferson St., Oshkosh, denied in municipal court today charges of hit and run driving and reckless driving. He was released without bond for trial at 3 p.m. Sept. 21.

Suda was charged with hitting a car at Jackson Drive and Murdoch Ave. at 6:03 p.m. Saturday, then eluding a pursuing police car.

Gerald Beck, 20, 423 W. 17th Ave., changed his plea from innocent to guilty of driving too fast for conditions. He was fined $25 by Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane.

Beck's car hit a utility pole at 12:09 a.m. Aug. 21 after skidding 360 feet when he attempted to turn left on Durfee Ave. to Knapp St. After hitting the pole, his car continued another 17 feet and came to rest on a lawn in the 200 block of Knapp St.

Body of Drowning Victim Recovered

Jerry Raymond, 24, Omro, Fell Off Boat Near Oshkosh Saturday

OSHKOSH — The body of an Omro man, missing in Lake Butte des Morts since early Saturday morning, was recovered about 3 30 p.m. Monday by Winnebago County and Oshkosh city police during dragging the lake in the city police boat.

Jerry LeRoy Raymond, 24, 447 Walnut St., Omro, was pulled from Lake Butte des Morts at Sunset bay, between Sunset and Shangri-la points. His body had been in the water about 58 hours.

Winnebago County Police Lt. Kenneth Hetue and Oshkosh Policeman Donald Utech said the body was discovered by Jerry Douglas, Sheboygan, and his son Thomas, who were riding in a boat about 100 yards behind the police craft.

Clad in T-shirt

Lt. Hetue said he did not know if the body floated to the surface by itself or if their dragging operations had dislodged it. Raymond was clad in a T-shirt, shorts and heavy work boots when found. Sheriff Richard "Bud" Lowell said Raymond was reported to have been wearing a pair of bib overalls at the time of the accident.

Raymond and Miss Marion Schultz, 21, 817 Scott St., Oshkosh, had gone riding in Raymond's boat early Saturday morning after they had finished work at Pluswood Co. in Oshkosh.

Lost Balance

Miss Schultz told authorities that Raymond told her he lost his wallet and he started looking for it in the water along side the boat. While looking, he lost his balance and fell into the lake, she said.

Miss Schultz was rescued about 6 10 a.m. Saturday by Elmer Wenzlaff, who lives at Sunset Point.

Authorities said there were no life preservers in the boat.

Neenah Debt Soon to Hit $4,653,000

NEENAH — Bonded indebtedness for the City of Neenah will come to $4,653,000 after the council next week awards bids for a $380,000 bond issue.

The latest issue for which bids will be opened at 2 30 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 6, will be for the financing of sewer work.

The new issue will bring the city up to 53 per cent of its debt limitation of $8,700,000.

Retirement of the $380,000 sewer bond issue will be over a 10 year period with $50,000 a year being paid off from 1962 through 1966.

$30,000 in 1967 and $25,000 per year from 1968 through 1971.

Youth Fined on Conduct Charge

NEENAH — Richard Getschov, 17, 224 Bond St., pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct and was fined $19.20 by Police Justice E. P. Arpin Saturday. He was arrested at 1 15 a.m. on Aug. 20 after a dis-

Area Split by Boards' Vote

Part of Hortonville District May be Affected by Change

NEENAH — Transfer of a portion of the Wide Awake school district to Clayton district No. 1 was approved Monday night at a joint meeting of the boards of the Towns of Clayton and Greenville.

The affected land lies in the Town of Clayton.

At a previous meeting Aug. 14, the two boards considered a petition from parents of 10 children now living in Clayton district but attending the Wide Awake School.

The parents asked that Wide Awake district be added to Clayton.

As a result of Monday's meeting the 10 children will attend Clayton School, as of the start of school Sept. 5. Final approval of the transfer must come from the office of the state superintendent of schools in Madison.

No opposition to transfer of the land was voiced at the hearing that preceded Monday's vote.

Wide Awake is a part of the Hortonville Union Free High School. If Clayton joins Neenah for high school purposes, this new segment would become a part of the Neenah system.

Turbance in the 700 block on Harrison Street involving 10 young people.

Ross R. Bennett, 46, 210 Main St., pleaded guilty of drunkenness and was fined $9.20 by Justice Arpin Saturday.

Invite County Committee

Towns, School Boards Talk Reorganization

NEENAH — A general meeting of town boards and school boards from the towns of Vinland, Clayton, Neenah and Menasha to discuss school reorganization will be held Sept. 6.

Plans for the meeting were discussed Monday evening at the Town of Neenah board meeting.

The session will be held at Tulare school if that building is available.

Members of the Winnebago County School committee are being invited to the session.

Action Deferred

The town board, in other action, tabled approval of the Lieber Lakeview plat on county trunk G, west of county trunk A, until Town Chairman Laurel Heaney can confer with Leon Morrissey, Winnebago County highway commissioner, regarding drainage, street layout and width.

The proposed plat, of which Robert Lieber is listed as owner, contains 67 lots.

Two Rainbow Beach residents met with the board to request installation of streetlighting at Maple Lane and Bayview Road, scene of an accident last week.

They also sought trimming of trees and brush, which they said obstruct vision at that intersection.

Town officials indicated they would contact Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. for information.

Bleier's, Pond's to Meet for Softball Crown Wednesday

Pierce Auto, UCT Suffer Defeats In City Tournament Semi-Finals

BY RALPH MUELLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

An unearned run in the first inning gave Bleier's a 1-0 victory over Pierce Auto and two un-

City Softball tournament semi-finals at Telulah Park Monday evening.

Bleier's and Pond's will meet for the championship at 7:15 Wednesday at Telulah.

Werner scattered three hits and three walks over the seven-inning distance. He gave up an infield single to the first batter in the game, Phil Burnmeister, and allowed successive singles to Jim Duquette and Fred Stoeger in the fifth inning.

Retires Last 13

Stoeger also allowed only three hits. He was the victim of an error in the first inning which let in the only run of the game. The right-hander retired the last 13 batters in succession, including Skip Koehnke who walked and was cut down trying to steal.

Ron Bessette put hope in the hearts of Pierce Auto fans for a brief moment in the seventh inning when he skied to Jim Kirkland about three feet from the center field fence. Werner walked Jim Duquette and then closed the door for Pierce by getting Stoeger to fly to right field.

UCT and Pond's each scored a run in the first before Pond came up with the two unearned tallies in the third. A perfect throw to the plate by right fielder Bob Ollerich saved another run. The peg nipped Bill Brandt, who was trying to score after Don Kemp. Spahn went over to third on an infield out. After Bolling walked, Eddie Mathews lashed a double to right and the two runners went home.

Intentional Walk

The Braves had a chance to do more damage but nothing came of it. After Mathews' hit, Aaron Adcock then took a third swing, going after a wild pitch, with the net result that he was safe at first. But Frank Thomas fled out to end the threat.

The Phillies worked up to their run in the fourth as Bobby Maikmus was safe when Maikmus booted his grounder. Clay Dalrymple added a single and both moved up on a wild pitch. Ken Walter walked to fill the bases. Tony Taylor hit back to Spahn who threw to the plate, getting Maikmus on a force. The run scored when Adcock fumbled Bolling's throw after Johnny Callison's grounder. The run was unearned.

The loss was charged to Robin Roberts, now 1-10. Ken Lehman took over in the fifth.

The Braves will be back in County Stadium tonight, meeting the San Francisco Giants who are third, a half-game ahead of the Braves. Lew Burdette, 15-8, or Bob Hendley, 4-3, will face Jack Sanford, 10-7.

and as Hank Aaron. Joe Adcock and Joe Torre singled to produce one run. Then came McMillan's homer. After Bolling's homer in the next inning, the Braves were shut out until the seventh.

McMillan opened the inning with a walk but was forced by Spahn who reached second on a bunt. Spahn then threw to the plate to tempt. Spahn went over to third on an infield out. After Bolling walked, Eddie Mathews lashed a double to right and the two runners went home.

Navarino and Bonduel tied for the second-round championship of the Dairyland Baseball League by posting victories in makeup games Sunday.

Navarino edged Hofa Park, 7-5, and Bonduel bested Seymour, 8-6.

Nichols and Hofa Park To Meet Sunday

Nichols and Hofa Park will meet Sunday to decide the Dairyland League's first-round title. Winners of the first and second round games will meet the following Sunday in the grand championship.

The championship will be a best-of-three series — unless Navarino and Hofa Park win. These two teams have agreed to play just one game for the title.

0. The Landstad-Garsow game was called after three innings because of rain.

Navarino and Bonduel will meet Sunday at Bonduel for the second-round title.

Navarino built up a 7-1 lead and then stalled off a Hofa Park rally that melted four runs in the top of the eighth inning. A steady rain which had fallen throughout the game turned to a downpour while Navarino was batting in the last of the eighth and the game was called.

Hofa Park took a 1-0 lead with a run in the first inning, but Navarino came back to score a pair in the fourth, two more in the sixth and three in the seventh.

Aulin Pies belted a solo homer for Navarino in the fourth inning.

Jerry Herb was the winning hurler for Navarino, and Harry Vanden Elzen took the loss. Herb had 11 strikeouts while walking six. Vanden Elzen recorded five strikeouts and walked four.

Arnold Bubolz pitched a 2-hitter and fanned seven in the Bonduel victory. Bubolz walked four.

Bonduel panned out nine hits that included a pair of safeties by Pete Senzig, Doug Ellertson and Adolph Druckery.

Spahn Begins 'Working' on Batter With His First Pitch

Only 9 Runs in 7 Games

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Warren Spahn jerked the Milwaukee Braves back onto the winning track Monday night and thus allowed them to return home from a road engagement with second division clubs with a not so impressive 4 and 4 slate.

The Braves evened the record by beating the Philadelphia Phillies 7-1. The Phillies picked on Spahn for 10 hits, but their only run was unearned. And it was only the ninth run scored against Spahn in his last seven appearances.

The lesson started when Spahn was asked, "When you lost your fast ball, you made the adjustment. Robin Roberts didn't. How come?"

Takes 10th Loss

Spahn didn't like the question because it focused attention on Roberts, the only Phillie left from the 1950 pennant team. And he took his 10th loss against one victory this season while Spahn was winning Monday night.

"Why pick on Roberts?" Spahn wanted to know. Then he added, "Look, he's not fooling the hitter, that's all." The lesson began: "When I step out on the mound, I begin working on the hitter from the first pitch. My objective is to get him to hit my pitch. I'm certainly not going to give him his pitch—a big fat one."

"Take tonight as an example. Sure, they got 10 hits. But only one run. They still pay off on runs in this game."

Here the attention turned to Frank Bolling who had socked his 14th homer in the third inning. He has had four hits in 12 trips after a bit of resting on the bench. And what's more he's been on base eight of his 12 times up.

"That short rest did me worlds of good," Bolling said. "I feel a lot stronger, and I'm swinging much harder."

'Outagamie' Is Winner in LL All-Star Set

Outagamie Bank made a clean sweep of both its games in the Appleton Little League Division All-Star series Sunday. Outagamie defeated Northside Kiwanis, 7-0.

Outagamie had beaten State Bank in its first game Friday night. State Bank got an even split in the series by defeating Northside, 8-5, Saturday evening.

Jim Krueger and Tom Leopold shared the mound duties for Outagamie with Leopold getting credit for the victory.

Krueger struck out seven and Leopold, who was the starter, fanned five.

Jeff Josephs and Jim Goehler belted doubles for Outagamie and Sipple had a double for Northside. Goehler also had a triple for Outagamie.

Josephs finished the contest with four hits. Leopold and Krueger each went three innings and combined they were touched for only one hit. Gary McIntyre was the losing pitcher.

The league banquet will be at 5:45 p.m. today in the St. Joseph School cafeteria.

Topeka Splits But Widens League Lead

Des Moines Turns Back Cedar Rapids Before 2,672

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Topeka split a doubleheader Monday night, but widened its Three-League lead over Cedar Rapids to 6 1/2 games.

Eight home runs were hit at Topeka as the Reds defeated Lincoln, 12-8, and then lost, 3-2. Cedar Rapids was a 6-3 victim at Des Moines.

At Burlington Bob Fridy struck out 16 and yielded only three hits in an 8-3 triumph over Fox Cities.

Lincoln's Fred Loesekam hit a grand-slam home run in the first game and led off the second contest with a solo homer. He had six hits in eight at-bats and drove in seven runs.

Bill DiCrista's ninth-inning homer beat Topeka in the nightcap.

Des Moines pounded 16-game winner Bill Holmes for 12 hits and handed him his fourth defeat. Four runs in the sixth—including two driven in by pitcher Jess Hickman—supplied Des Moines' winning margin.

Dick Edwards was hit by a Holmes pitch in the sixth inning and charged the pitcher. He was restrained, then twice again in the same inning raced towards the mound. The crowd of 2,672 including 1,844 youngsters was last-place Des Moines' best of the season.

McKinley and Ralston Win Doubles Title

Darlene Hard Teams With Aussie to Take Women's Honors

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston, who evaded a Davis Cup score while winning the National Doubles tennis title, today said they were "lucky" to do both.

The two now are turning full attention to the National Singles at Forest Hills.

McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., and Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., became the first American tandem to win the men's crown here since 1954 when they defeated Mexicans Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 13-11 Monday.

Kind of Shaky

"I'm glad it's over. I was kind of shaky out there in that last set," commented the 19-year-old Ralston.

Osuna and Palafox, both in their early 20s, had beaten McKinley and Ralston in four sets at the Davis Cup interzone finals doubles in Cleveland 10 days ago.

Darlene Hard, Montebello, Calif., shares the women's National Doubles crown for the fifth straight year. She teamed with Australian Lesley Turner to defeat German champion Edda Buding and Mexican titlist Yola Ramirez, 6-4, 5-7, 6-0.

The women parlayed a pickup combination into victory. They paired off because their partners were taken ill.

Erwin Harris Has One-Man Campaign Against Castro

Seizes Cuban Goods in U. S. to Help Pay for Ad Agency Bills

BY STEPHEN TRUMBULL
Chicago Daily News Service

MIAMI, Fla.—Erwin Harris, the dapper and scrappy Miami advertising man who is conducting a one-man financial war against Fidel Castro, is now over the halfway mark in collecting the $429,000 Cuba owed him.

He said this week that proceeds from the sale of the 10 Cuban airplanes he has seized to satisfy the court-set judgment, plus such assorted items as 3,000,000 pounds of lard, insecticides and fertilizer, now total "well over $200,000."

Castro's government far more than that.

Legal fees and other expenses have been "tremendous." He is still far out of pocket for the money he once spent in advertising space selling potential tourists on the "gracious way of Cuban life."

That was before he looked under the covers, saw red faces the court-set judgment, plus such assorted items as 3,000,000 pounds of lard, insecticides and fertilizer, now total "well over $200,000."

After a stormy meeting in Cuba with Castro's and Russia's Boy, Ernesto (Che) Guevara, "Do you think for a minute," he reported Guevara as saying, "that I am going to pay you this money so you can pay those American newspapers?"

That was on July 4, 1960. Harris privately declared his war before the meeting was over. It was some 10 months later, in April of this year, that the court ruling that Cuba should be sued for commercial contracts became final.

Three C-46 cargo planes of the Cuban-owned airline were in Miami to load baby chickens as the final order was signed. Almost before the ink was dry Harris had them in his chicken coop.

Two other C-46's arrived later with 100 Cuban crew. Harris grabbed them. Then, over the months, there were three agricultural versions of the Piper Cub, a Cessna 180 and a DC-3B.

These, at court auctions, didn't bring in too much. The big cargo planes only averaged about $8,000 each. But Harris chuckles in glee as he says it will cost Castro some $75,000 each to replace them.

The crop-spraying Cub only brought around $1,000 each; the Cessna $3,500; the DC-3B $10,000.

First puzzled, Harris says he now is something of an expert on sales of this nature. He says the prices have been knocked down because the Cubans keep no log showing maintenance work on airplanes.

So purchasers in the United States are buying a "cat in a bag." The planes must go through an expensive frame inspection before they can be re-licensed.

Less glamorous but far more profitable was the seizure of lard at the port of West Palm Beach. This brought in $180,000.

Harris grabbed that, and other Cuba-bound shipments, on a theory the courts held to be entirely logical. His attorney argued that since no sane American business man would trust Castro, these shipments must have been paid for before they reached the dock.

Therefore, they belonged to Cuba. Investigation proved this to be correct.

Dried Up Supplies
Harris thinks he probably did more to dry up this last remaining dribble of supplies for Castro than did any other American—official or private.

So does an organization of 250 exiled Cuban business men and industrialists now in South Florida. They recently gave the ad man a "Homage," a testimonial dinner.

In conversations with Harris, he leaves the definite impression that no such urging is needed. He appears to be enjoying the game.

He makes it clear that it was only on the urging of the State Department, and "in an effort to demonstrate national unity," that he surrendered the 40-foot gunboat we "swapped" for the interned Eastern Airlines plane.

Would Give Up
"This doesn't mean I will give up any other claim, or pass up any future opportunity," he said.

In radio tirades, Castro and Guevara have called Harris "an imperialistic Yankee tool of the Central Intelligence Agency."

Harris has called both of them "bums, and communistic dead-beats."

The scrap probably has been not at all bad for Harris's advertising business, which already was doing about $3,000,000 a year in billing.

Compensation Anniversary to be Marked by JFK
WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House, with President Kennedy officiating, will observe the 50th anniversary of the first workmen's compensation law next Friday.

The only living members of the Wisconsin Legislature, which adopted the law Sept. 1, 1911, will attend the ceremony in the White House rose garden. They are Judge Edward T. Fairchild of Madison and Theodore Brazeau of Wisconsin Rapids.

The ceremony will also be used to introduce a commemorative stamp to be issued by the Post Office Department.

Bystander Killed by Stone Believed Aimed At New York Policemen
NEW YORK (AP) — A stone thrown from a rooftop—believed aimed at policemen—struck and fatally injured a bystander Monday night.

Police said the victim, Ramon Rojas, 43, was one of a crowd of about 100 that clustered around two policemen who were questioning a man in the street on Manhattan's lower East Side.

Officers have been patrolling rooftops in New York's trouble areas recently in the aftermath of several stonings of police.

One-Man Crime Wave?
TOKYO (AP) — Police jailed Kazuo Kajita, 29, on a theft charge Monday and said he confessed committing 3 murders, 35 thefts, 6 swindlings, and 2 intimidation cases. Police said he added that he attempted arson once.

Way to Control Cholesterol In Blood Is Stop Eating Fats

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: An article on cholesterol was the main topic of conversation at our bridge-lunch-oon, so much so that our newest grand other had no opportunity to show us the baby's pictures."

Dr. Molner

"One woman insisted that substituting oleo-margarine for butter would lessen the forming of cholesterol. Is this true? — The Monday Club (Per G.N.)"

Not exactly. Ordinary margarine and butter are essentially the same in fat content and calories.

However, there are special margarines now available that contain a lesser amount of "saturated fats" which are currently thought to be one of several factors in the cholesterol problem.

Anyway, the problem of cholesterol isn't nearly as easy as some articles make it out to be. It isn't the presence of cholesterol that does the damage, because cholesterol is a vital substance and all of us have it.

The important question is this: What makes it accumulate on the linings of our arteries? After all, people who live solely on vegetables also have cholesterol in the bloodstream, because the body's adroit chemistry creates cholesterol from whatever is available in the line of food.

That question isn't answered yet. My own conclusion, based on such information as has been accumulated, is simple enough.

Avoid Obesity
First, let's do the obvious thing, which is to avoid obesity. Substantial overweight certainly does as much harm as cholesterol—and maybe more. So why not put first things first?

Second, I think it might do some good and certainly will do no harm if we all get in the habit of eating less in the way of animal fats. There's no need to avoid them entirely, but just to cut down. Nowhere else in the world do people eat a diet so high in fats.

Third, which is a corollary, why worry about butter or margarine, when some moderate but daily attention to cutting down on the fat from beef, pork, ham or lamb will take as much cholesterol out of the diet as is represented by all the butter or margarine we eat?

The basic, simple, well-founded goal should be to achieve moderation in total fat consumption, rather than to quibble over whether this kind of stuff to spread on the bread is a little better or a little worse than some other kind.

In short, on this cholesterol-in-the-diet business, I'm afraid we are all being led astray, and are acting too much like the overweight dwagon who, in effect, keeps insisting, "put me on a diet—but make it a diet so I can eat all I want of everything I like."

Erwin Harris in Kears
"Dear Dr. Molner: I have eczema inside both ears. Is there any cure?—Mrs. L."

Most likely. The probable cause is a fungus infection, which produces scaling and itching. (Often there may be secondary infection.)

These fungus infections may follow swimming in water that happens to carry fungus. It can be quite stubborn to control. A mixture of alcohol and boric acid, half and half, soaked in a pledget of cotton, may help. Better still, have a skin specialist check to determine the exact nature of the trouble. (Eczema outside the ear canal is most likely to be an allergy, due to cosmetics, jewelry, etc.; inside, fungus is more likely.)

Note to H. E. F.: A misplaced or "dropped" liver isn't going to be corrected by exercises.
